MARKET ACT ISSUE AT FRUIT CONVENTION

Pay Increase to Be Denied Civil Servants In B. C.

Sadness at Parliament Buildings To-day When Report Gets Out That Government Intends to Carry Out Its Platform of Economy by Cutting Payroll; Increases Were Included in Estimates, According to Report, But Must Go

There is sadness in the Parliament Buildings.

The new Government is going to carry out its platform of economy by cutting the payroll, it is reported. The statutory increase in salary for civil servants will not be recommended to the Legislature in the estimates this session. Under Civil Service Act various classes of employees are graded so that every so often they get little jumps of pay of about $50 or $100 a year.

ELIMINATED THEM

When the preliminary draft of the estimates came before the Executive Council a short time ago, these increases were all included. But the Cabinet, faced with the necessity of making good on its promise of reducing the cost of Government, wiped them all out, it is stated. So the civil servants will get no increase in pay this year.

Premier S. F. Tolmie is making every effort to have the estimates and legislation in readiness before the House meets. The Executive Council has been meeting day and night for the last two weeks. Evening meetings are of almost daily occurrence, because as much of the day time available is taken up with receiving deputations urging various enactments.

OFFICIALS SURPRISED

The reported decision of the Cabinet not to raise civil service salaries came as a complete surprise to all Government employees, for whom it was in Opposition the Conservative Party continually attacked the Liberal Government when statutory salary increase were granted.

Drunk Crew Wrecks Train

Fourteen Deaths in Roumania Are Blamed on Intoxicated Train Men

Turnu Severin, Roumania, Jan. 16.—Railroad inspectors to-day said drunkenness on the part of the engineer and crew of a Bucharest-Temesvar express train cost the lives of fourteen persons. In addition to the fatalities, about two-score passengers were injured last night at Prunescu, near here, when the express crashed into a local train which had been derailed.

SIGNALS NOT OBEYED
The express was traveling fifty-five miles an hour in the dead of night when the crash occurred. The engineer of the express, which was heavily laden, apparently was blind to all signals.

In their excitement over the derailed local train, station officials apparently forgot about the on-rushing Bucharest Express, which ploughed into the passenger coaches of the local train like a catapult.

Australia Raises $40,000,000 Loan

London, Jan. 16 (Canadian Press Cable).—An Australian Commonwealth loan of $40,000,000 for the development of works and making loans to states for the settlement of British immigrants was issued to-day.

The loan, issued with the approval of the Australian Loan Council as central borrower on behalf of itself and the Australian states, will mature in 1945 and 1975. The bonds will bear interest at five per cent and are purchasable at ninety-eight per cent of the par value.

CO-OPERATION SAVES MUCH TO WORKMEN AND INDUSTRIES

Montreal, Jan. 16.—The Federal Department of Labor does not make public all the problems with which it is confronted from time to time, according to Hon. Peter Heenan, Minister of Labor. Especially it seeks to keep under a veil of prudent quiet matters relating to industrial disputes. This is the desired settlement.

During the last two years, the Minister said in an address at a banquet of the Montreal St. Patrick's Society last night, corporations, had come to the department asking assistance in settlement of labor problems and although they were ordinarily outside the jurisdiction of the department,

E. C. DRURY MAY BE MEMBER OF FARM LOAN BOARD

Ottawa, Jan. 16.—In a news page story to-day The Ottawa Citizen says E. C. Drury, former Premier of Ontario, probably will be appointed to the Farm Loan Board, of which Dr. J. D. MacLean, former Premier of British Columbia, already has been appointed a chairman, and that Hon. J. L. Manly, general manager of the Banque Canadienne Nationale, probably will be appointed from Quebec.

FOCH TO-DAY MAKES GAIN

Aged French Marshall Recovers Strength in Fight For Health

Paris, Jan. 16.—The condition of Marshal Ferdinand Foch, it was learned on unimpeachable authority late to-day, was much improved and the seventy-eight-year-old leader was feeling better and stronger this afternoon than at any time since his heart attack on Monday.

The Marshal's physicians issued the following bulletin at 9 a.m. to-day: "There is no aggravation. The condition is stationary."

NEW PROHIBITION MEASURES

Washington, Jan. 16.—President-elect Hoover is to appoint a special commission soon after March 4 to investigate prohibition, general law violations and court proceedings and to make recommendations looking to improvement of the whole situation.

CARS MUST BEAR 1929 LICENSE PLATES TO-DAY

Automobile drivers who ventured forth this morning bearing 1928 license plates on their cars discovered in quick time that their licenses were out of date when the police started a drive to pick up the delinquents. Yesterday was the last day on which the old plates were useful and henceforth during this year all vehicles must bear the new license plates on their cars.

At the license department of the Provincial Police this morning, there was a last-minute rush of those who had failed to get their new plates within the time allotted. According to Inspector G. A. Hood there are now comparatively few motorists in the city who have not secured the 1929 plates.

twenty-four of them had been successfully dealt with and settled. Since he had taken office, said Mr. Heenan, forty-eight disputes, affecting about 90,000 workers, or with their families, some 350,000 Canadian citizens, had come under the consideration of the Department of Labor. Each had been settled without a strike or lock-out or the waste of one day's time.

"This," said the minister, "was the result of co-operation."

He had a natural sympathy for workmen, Mr. Heenan said, because ever since he had come to Canada in 1902 from Ireland until he had been called to the Cabinet at Ottawa in 1926 he had, practically speaking, been wearing overalls.

LIQUOR ACT UNDER FIRE

Permit System, Advertising and Profit Distribution Scored By Prohibitionists

Increased consumption of liquor in B.C., the permit system, liquor advertising and distribution of liquor profits were discussed at the annual meeting of the Victoria branch of the Prohibition League at the First Baptist Church last night. Representatives of city churches, the W.C.F.U. and temperance organizations were present.

Rev. T. W. Gladstone gave a report of the prohibition convention recently held in Vancouver. The increased consumption of alcoholic beverages in British Columbia gave rise to considerable discussion. It was felt that the permit system was being grossly abused and that government control was a misnomer.

LIQUOR ADVERTISING

It was finally agreed to approach the Government and ask for the prohibition of liquor advertising, and the elimination of the earmarking of liquor profits to municipalities. Also it was decided to ask for a return of the amount of liquor supplied to various clubs holding a license from the Government.

OFFICERS CHOSEN

The election of officers resulted in the following being chosen to guide the work of the League for another year: President, R. S. Anderson; first vice-president, T. Humphries; second vice-president, W. E. Harper; secretary, H. W. Davey and treasurer, D. M. McColl.

The executive committee will consist of the officers with the following: Mr. John Hall, Mrs. R. E. Collis, Rev. James Strachan, D. H. Bryce and R. Chave.

SECRET BALLOT ON RETIREMENT OF SALVATION ARMY LEADER WAS EXPECTED TO-NIGHT

Sunbury-on-Thames, Eng., Jan. 16.—The High Council of the Salvation Army which was discussing the question of deposing General Bramwell Booth to-day adjourned for dinner at 7:45 p.m. with the expectation that a vote would be taken on resumption of the session this evening. The ballot will be secret.

BY OPEN VOTE

Sunbury-on-Thames, Eng., Jan. 16.—The sixth day's session of the High Council of the Salvation Army opened to-day with the prospect that a ballot would be taken by early afternoon on the question of General Bramwell Booth's fitness to hold his generalship.

It was understood this would be an open vote, as such a method was decided upon yesterday evening by a vote of the fifty-four commissioners after much debate.

Should the ballot, as forecast by those well informed on the matter, decide the retirement of the general, the High Council probably would adjourn for two or three days to enable candidates for the vacant office to prepare their platform.

It is understood each candidate must openly declare before the council the reform he or she proposes to make and promise to carry them out before any vote will be taken.

COMMITTEE DELAY

The High Council adjourned for lunch at 1 o'clock.

It was understood the council was hampered in reaching a decision because various points had to be referred to a sub-committee appointed to deal with legal questions.

It was learned also that the question of a successor to General Booth also was discussed.

EIGHT DROWNED WHEN LIFEBOAT IS OVERTURNED

Rotterdam, Jan. 16.—The eight men of the crew of the Hook of Holland lifeboat were believed to have been drowned to-day when their boat capsized while going to the assistance of the Latvian steamship Falka, which ran aground off a new waterway there.

CLEMENCEAU HOPES SOON TO WORK AGAIN

Paris, Jan. 16.—Georges Clemenceau, former Premier of France, suffering with a bad attack of grip, to-day was expected to resume his work before the end of the week unless his eighty-seven years should tell too heavily on him.

FARMERS OF ALBERTA ASK LOAN PLAN

Federal Government Urged By Convention to Stop Present Immigration Policy

Edmonton, Jan. 16.—Discontinuance of the existing immigration policy of Canada and diversion of money now being spent into channels leading to improvement of the status of Canada's present population were urged by the convention of the United Farmers of Alberta here to-day.

Two resolutions, quoting existing immigration scheme as "largely futile" and "not in the best interests of Canada," were given support by the meeting. The resolutions recommended low interest loans to young Canadians and aid for Canadians such as is given British immigrant boys and entered a strong protest against any misrepresentation of Canadian conditions by immigration and colonization authorities.

DISCOURAGEMENT OF SETTLEMENT

Discouragement of settlement of people from any country in large communities was recommended to the Federal Government in a third resolution passed. The stand was taken on a sub-resolution displacing one which, if passed, would have expressed "unfettered opposition to further immigration from the British Isles and other Europeans of communal views."

SYSTEM OF LOANS

As a result of one resolution the United Farmers of Alberta will ask the Federal Government to discontinue the present immigration policy and instead "to set apart sufficient money to loan to our citizens at a low rate of interest and on long term so as to enable them to secure farms of their own."

Such a move, it was contended, would result in "keeping our own citizens on the land."

Big Chain Store Construction Begins; Balmoral Deal Off

Luney-Bros. Start Work For Metropolitan Chain on Douglas Street

Reconstruction of the lower part of the Brunswick Hotel building at Douglas and Yates Streets has been started by Luney Bros. With the exception of the bank on the corner, the whole ground floor is to be converted for the use of the Metropolitan 5 cent to $1 chain department store.

Negotiations for the purchase of the Balmoral Hotel by a group of Douglas Street merchants have been discontinued, it was announced to-day. Negotiations were started on a basis of $300,000. It was stated the vessel carried 300 Chinese passengers and that the crew had gone down with her.

THE SURVIVORS

The survivors said the vessel, owned by the China Merchants' Navigation Company, left Swatow yesterday at noon and encountered heavy seas and a strong wind. At 3:40 a.m. to-day the ship struck a rock and filled rapidly. It was believed only one lifeboat was launched. In it were a boatman, fifteen members of the crew and four passengers. The lifeboat tossed about on the heavy seas for about an hour and was sighted by a junk just as the ship keeled over and sank.

SAVED BY SWIMMERS

Another junk picked up Chief Officer Jacobson and two Chinese. All were lifeboats but they were so numbed by cold they were unable to grasp ropes thrown to them. The fishermen jumped into the water and lifted them aboard the junk.

SNOW ON GROUND

Snow covered the ground at Bradford Park, but it melted quickly as they saw deluged Luton with goals. Havelock scored twice for the Palace in the first ten minutes and again near the interval.

Victoria Regarded as "City With a Future," Says Former Industries Chief

Seattle Export Houses Interested in Port Development Plans Here

The growth of Victoria and the development of modern port facilities here is being watched with interest by export houses in Seattle, many of which are looking towards the establishment of connections here with a view to doing an increasing amount of their business through these channels. Roger D. Pinneo, manager of the Merchants Exchange branch of the Seattle Chamber of Commerce, stated yesterday as he stepped on the boat for the Sound City after a brief business conference here.

"Seattle regards Victoria as a city with a future, and while there has always been a friendly feeling for this port, this is now likely to be followed by the development of an increasing volume of business along many lines. Naturally Seattle is interested in your port developments, and anyone coming here after a brief absence cannot help but be struck by the way in which this city has shot ahead," Mr. Pinneo stated. He spent an interesting afternoon going over the plans of the industries here and recommended to the city.

Search Made For 300 From Chinese Vessel

Only 23 Known Saved After Ss. Hsinwah Went Down Off China Coast

Hongkong, Jan. 16.—Search was being continued off the South China Coast this afternoon for survivors of the Chinese steamship Hsinwah, which sank early this morning after striking a reef off Waglan. Only twenty-three survivors were known to have been picked up. It was stated the vessel carried 300 Chinese passengers and that the crew had gone down with her.

THE SURVIVORS

The survivors said the vessel, owned by the China Merchants' Navigation Company, left Swatow yesterday at noon and encountered heavy seas and a strong wind. French Newspapers Comment on Ratification of Anti-war Treaty

Paris, Jan. 16.—Ratification by the United States Senate of the Kellogg-Briand treaty renouncing war was hailed with general satisfaction by newspapers here to-day although the comments varied in accordance with political tendencies.

The widely circulated Petit Parisien said the importance of the decision could not be too much emphasized as the policy of peace inaugurated at Locarno and developed since then in different regions of Europe, found itself thus sanctioned by the United States.

BAR TO MOSCOW

On the other hand, Pertinax, in L'Echo de Paris, was inclined to belittle its importance. He said: "We are incapable of thinking the Senate's vote will mark an important date in the history of nations, but we recognize it has the modest merit of relieving us of soviet schemes and manoeuvres built up at Moscow, on (Concluded on page 3)

Northcott Conducts His Own Defence

Riverside, Cal., Jan. 16.—Gordon Stewart Northcott to-day elected to conduct his own defence in his trial here for murder of three boys at his Wineville chicken ranch. At Northcott's request, his attorneys withdrew from active participation in the case.

"I have decided from now on to take charge of my own case and defend myself," Northcott said in a statement to the court. "I think it is the only way the truth can be arrived at."

The defendant stated, however, that he was "entirely satisfied" with the conduct of the case so far, and expressed his thanks to his attorneys for their efforts.

Recess was taken until 2 o'clock to allow Northcott time to confer with his former attorneys.

Trade Report Shows Growth Of Dominion

Increase From April 1 Till December 31, 1928, Over $234,000,000

Ottawa, Jan. 16.—Canada's total trade advanced nearly $235,000,000 during nine months of 1928, from April 1 till December 31. The total was $2,007,890,158, as compared with $1,773,092,834 for the corresponding period in 1927. The figures were made available at the Department of National Revenue to-day.

Domestic exports were $1,071,647,164, as against $950,104,367 in the previous year, an increase of $121,542,797.

Wheat exports alone increased more than $81,000,000, while newspaper and automobiles were substantially heavier.

Imports for consumption amounted to $936,242,894, against $822,088,467 in 1927, an increase of $114,154,427. Dutiable goods totaled $694,156,367, and free goods $332,086,627.

December exports totaled $130,947,423, or approximately the same as the figure for December, 1927. The imports were $94,514,002, against $83,262,695.

DESCRIBED FAILURE

Mr. Hambling contends it is an absolute failure, and that there are no amendments conceived which will prevent the abuses which were stated to be a feature of this year's operations.

Mr. Black has not revealed his mind, but has made the statement that the act is ninety per cent efficient.

VIEWERS DIFFER

Apparently there is considerable criticism of the operations of the committee in Vernon and the North, while there appears to be warm admiration at Kelowna, and Penticton has upheld Mr. Black and criticized his conferees, Messrs. Hambling and Finch.

The directors of the Associated Growers were summoned to a meeting in Penticton on Tuesday, and it was adjourned to the following day, the advisability of that influential organization, declaring openly for one central selling agency.

This position on the opening day of the annual meeting, and all of the six resolutions, addresses and resolutions, all pale into insignificance in comparison.

The big issue is whether the Produce Marketing Act and the committee of direction shall carry on with amendments to put teeth into the act, or whether it is in the best interests of the growers to go straight away for selling the whole crop through one agency.

F. M. Black is to report on the operations of the committee to-morrow morning, and O. W. Hambling will either follow or get the floor on one of the six resolutions already prepared on the Produce Marketing Act, or the committee of direction.

Hon. W. Atkinson, Minister of Agriculture, and J. W. Jones, Speaker-elect, arrived this morning to listen to the debates.

W. E. PAT. OFF.

Penticton, B.C., Jan. 16.—In anticipation of the opening of the thirty-ninth annual meeting this afternoon, Penticton is a rallying point for British Columbia fruit-growers. Contingents from Vernon, Armstrong, Salmon Arm and other northern points arrived last night, while from Kelowna, Summerland and nearby centres they were pouring in at noon to-day.

Big issues have been contested before, but there was never the interest in the annual meeting there is in evidence this year. This is due to a discussion of the effectiveness of the British Columbia Produce Marketing Act and the administration by the committee of direction in a bumper crop year.

This commenced at Coldstream about two weeks ago and has been increasing in volume and in interest ever since. The only members of the committee who have so far taken any real part are Chairman F. M. Black, appointed by the Government, and O. W. Hambling, nominated by the Associated Growers.

Mr. Black has not revealed his mind, but has made the statement that the act is ninety per cent efficient.

Rail Board Grants Track Change Order

Chamber of Commerce Wins Fight Started Seven Years Ago; Details of Rail Interchange to Be Submitted Later

After an hour's hearing yesterday, the Railway Board of Canada ended the fight which the Victoria Chamber of Commerce started in 1921 and made an order for an interchange of railway tracks of the C.P.R. and the C.N.R. to serve plants on the Songhees Industrial Reserve.

Where the interchange will be made, apportionment of costs and other details have yet to be worked out. When this is done the board will again consider the matter, but no share of the cost will be placed on interest without it first being given an opportunity to be heard, the board stated. Commissioner Norris expressed the opinion that although the board had decided it that the special circumstances, it might reconsider this decision.

MAYHEW CONDUCTS CASE
R. W. Mayhew, who conducted the case for the Victoria Chamber of Commerce, gave evidence himself and also called witnesses to support the application. Addressing Chief Commissioner Hon. H. A. McKeown and Commissioner Norris, he concisely recalled the case presented to them on their last visit and reminded them that figures given at this hearing regarding the growth of business had shown that estimates of increased business given at the previous hearing had been conservative.

J. E. McMullen, K.C., counsel for the C.P.R., and F. J. Watson, counsel for the C.N.R., both opposed the application, although Mr. Watson said he opposed it only from the subject point of view. The one of public interest was the dominant one which the board must weigh, he said.

IN PUBLIC INTEREST
"We think it is in the public interest the interchange should be made," the Chief Commissioner said. "The order of the board is to that effect. With reference to the place where the interchange should be made, the engineer will be directed to make a survey and report. He will be instructed to confer with engineers of the railway and the expense cannot be decided until we know where the interchange will be made and the cost involved. No order will be made against anybody until they have had an opportunity of being heard."

Commissioner Norris said he was a firm believer in the principle of an interchange of tracks. He knew of other cities in Canada enjoying it. He believed the railways agreed with the principle. He was strongly in favor of round-table conferences to settle these problems. He hoped in this instance, the board engineer, the railway engineers, city representatives, Chamber of Commerce representatives and others interested would get together and work out a satisfactory solution.

"I don't see how a city this size got along without the interchange," he commented.

SUGGESTS JOINT RATES
Both counsel addressed the board before the decision was rendered. Mr. McMullen complained there had been no definite suggestion where the interchange should be made and the definite figures on cost. Assuming the expenditure was $50,000, the traffic movement did not warrant the expenditure, he said. The only traffic affected was that which originated in private siding of an industry. The financial burden the shippers wanted to get rid of amounted to $20 a car. The remedy which the E. and N. Railway suggested was establishment of a system of joint rates. That would eliminate cartage and cut down the expense to a cent and a quarter a hundred pounds. Over a three-year period, the E. and N. handled on an average only 100 cars a year that would be affected. Allowing $20 a car, $2,000 was the financial burden it was sought to eliminate. With joint rates the extra cost would be cut down to $625. The adoption of joint rates would meet the situation, he claimed.

C.N.R. ATTITUDE
For the C.N.R. Mr. Watson said he opposed the application from the subject point of view. There was the public interest which the board must weigh and consider. If the order was given in the apportionment of costs he asked the share of the C.N.R. costs be minimized. Large companies would be made assessable to the C.P.R. and traffic the C.N.R. enjoyed might be diverted and the C.N.R. tonnage and revenue affected. He remarked that a year ago it was estimated the cost might be $20,000. Now it was estimated at $50,000. He thought the interests to be benefited should bear a portion of the cost, including the City of Victoria.

CITY'S VIEW
City Solicitor H. S. Pringle said the city was taking a fraternal interest and he had been instructed to say the City Council endorsed the application of Chamber of Commerce but was opposed to bearing a proportion of the cost. He was also instructed to say the council thought it contrary to the public interests to have a level crossing. Business men of Victoria appeared.

Checked at the start
RUB your chest with Vicks before your little cold gets BIG.

Vicks acts two ways at once to check the cold and prevent complications:
(1) It is vaporized by the heat of the body and inhaled for hours direct to the inflamed air-passages;
(2) It acts through the skin like an old-fashion'd poultice, "drawing out" the tightness and pain.

OVER 17 MILLION JARS USED YEARLY

The C.N.R. In 1927, they paid $4,000 haulage. In 1928, it was over $4,000. There were shipments they could not make to points on the C.N.R. because of the awkwardness under present conditions.

J. E. McMullen, K.C., C.P.R. counsel, asked Mr. Kinsinger if a joint rate would not meet the situation. The proposal had been made by the railway companies for a joint rate in lieu of inter-switching. That would eliminate hauling charges.

Mr. Kinsinger said it would be satisfactory as far as he was concerned. He doubted if it would be best for the city.

H. G. Brown, president of the Victoria Cold Storage Company, said a survey for the cold storage plant had reported that this was one of the best districts in Canada for produce. He was interested in seeing it possible for shipments to be made on either company's tracks to the plant at Ogden Point.

Mr. Mayhew said the Sidney Roofing and Paper Company transferred 130 cars across the town because of the lack of inter-switching. It cost the company $3,000, and besides that, the goods were not of a nature to stand a lot of handling, and carting tended to make them unsightly. His company also used 6,000 cords of pulpwood, and if they had to go to get along while a lot of this could be got along the line of the C.N.R., it would cost a dollar a ton to bring it. The joint rate would not apply on incoming material. A joint rate would only save one section of the city, Mr. Mayhew emphasized.

U.S. NAVY PLANS NEW CAMPAIGN
ARE CRITICIZED FOR SETTLERS

Professor Johns Hopkins Says
Too Much Building Despite Anti-war Pact

Washington, Jan. 16.—The declaration that the United States Senate's ratification of the Kellogg anti-war pact is nullified by its consideration of the cruiser bill was heard to-day by the Conference on the Causes and Cure of War.

Charging that "the State Department follows the dollar," Prof. John H. Latane, head of the department of law of Johns Hopkins University, said in a prepared address that naval construction by the United States was determined solely by the size of United States investments abroad, not by peace treaties or agreements.

"The big navy advocates," he declared, "say in effect:

"We will vote to ratify your harmless and meaningless declaration against war provided you give us our cruisers."

"The greater the foreign investments the more insistent will be the demand for a bigger and yet bigger navy," said Prof. Latane. "We have presented to the world a treaty renouncing war as an instrument of policy, but navies are instruments of imperialism, and they are used to safeguard investments."

PROTECTION FIELD
The changes in United States policy toward Latin-America during the last twenty-five years he attributed to the increase in United States investments there from $300,000,000 to over five billions, and to the need to protect those investments.

"In the case of Porto Rico and the Danish West Indies," he said, "we have resorted to direct annexation. So far we have refrained from annexing independent states, but economic imperialism does not have to resort to such crude methods."

In Nicaragua, he asserted the President-elect "is a mere puppet in the hands of the Department of State."

Dr. Latane said he foresaw some hope of improvement in the American relations during the Hoover administration because of the recent Pan-American arbitration treaty.

WEST POINT VIEW
The necessity for continued armament was upheld before the conference by Capt. Thomas Schneider, professor of law at West Point.

The army plan of the United States, he said, was non-aggressive; it was defensive only. There was nothing in the compatible or inconsistent with the idea of accomplishing a state of organized world peace, at the same time recognizing the necessity of preparedness for defensive purposes.

SEA PROBLEMS
Dr. Charles P. Howland, director of research of the Council of Foreign Relations, held no progress could be made in disarmament either in the army or navy until the problem of the freedom of the seas was first solved.

"Not to agree how the seas shall be navigated and policed," he said, "is to invite anarchy."

the hypothesis of indefinite adjournment and even failure to adjourn. The young men had died from recognition through their studies of cancer, were found dead yesterday with a message pinned to the door of their flat saying life was not worth living.

They were Dr. Arthur B. Smith and Dr. Sydney McKendrick Smith, sons of an Edinburgh practitioner. They were twenty-five years old.

The note pinned to the door was addressed to the nation and read in full: "We have given our lives to cancer research. We have reduced ourselves to a state of poverty. Life is not worth living."

In the room were found two letters addressed to the coroner and the police. The young men had died from cancer cuts in their throats, although one of them also had taken poison.

EXPLAINED BY LETTERS
The scene when the police broke into the service flat on Herby Street in the fashionable West End bore every indication of a double murder until the letters were found.

Friends in Edinburgh expressed astonishment at the act of the brothers. It was thought they would have brilliant careers and no one had imagined they were suffering from cancer. They were members of various medical societies and had written and published joint papers on their research work, including a book on cancer. They had been educated together and had attended medical schools in Paris, Stockholm and Brussels. They were associated in practice.

MRS. C. K. MAGILL DIES IN SEATTLE
Former Victorian and Well-known Golf Player Succumbs to Illness

Seattle, Jan. 16.—Mrs. C. K. Magill, for more than a decade widely and affectionately known in Seattle social and golfing circles, died last evening in her apartments in the New Washington Hotel. She was forty-six years old.

Besides the widower, she is survived by one son, Mickey, at present in San Francisco.

At various times since last April Mrs. Magill had been receiving medical treatment here and for the last month she had been under such treatment continuously. Few even of her most intimate friends, however, knew of her serious condition until her death.

Mr. Magill had divided his time during her illness between here and their Victoria home.

MARRIED IN EGYPT
Married in Cairo, Egypt, twenty-four years ago, this Scottish woman met her husband in Seattle, B.C. in 1908. They came to Seattle, where Mr. Magill, as secretary of the Seattle Golf Club, managed the affairs of the city's pioneer golfing organization during its last days.

Mrs. Magill became one of the leading players of the golf club and one year won the championship.

EXPANSION NOTE
Mr. Pinneo found time to visit the Rubber Mat Company and learned of the success of the unit established here which is already paying dividends. He was struck by the development shown on the industrial reserve by the older established industries of the city.

SEES NEW INDUSTRIES
At the Panama Pacific Grain Terminal Limited, Mr. Pinneo, in company with Phil Benedict and D. A. Leach, of Kerr-Gifford and Company, Incorporated, Portland, Ore., visited the mill and saw the modern plant and its excellent equipment. He noticed the short shipping gallery, the conveyor system, the latest machinery for processing grain.

Mr. Pinneo renewed his acquaintance with John Moore, manager of the B.C. Worsteds Mills Limited, and learned that the local mills was off to a good start with a bright outlook ahead. He went through the mill and saw the production and treatment of colored yarns.

At Ogden Point Mr. Pinneo saw the steel in place for the Victoria Cold Storage and Terminal Warehouse Limited, but missed seeing H. G. Brown, the president of the company, as the latter was engaged as a witness before the Railway Board in the inter-rail hearing.

Yorkshire Committee Urges
Efforts to Increase British Migration to Canada

London, Jan. 16.—(By Thomas T. Champion, London manager of the Canadian Press.) The report of the Yorkshire Voluntary Migration Committee, made public to-day, states the delegates who visited Canada and studied labor conditions are convinced Canadians desire and prefer British emigrants and "a most vigorous campaign is needed to arouse the Briton to the great opportunities awaiting him."

"Unfortunately," the report states, "despite generous schemes of assisted passages granted British nationals, they have failed to come forward in sufficient numbers to meet the ever-growing demand for labor. There appears to be a marked disinclination to seek more favorable conditions overseas. Meanwhile other nationals without the generous facilities enjoyed by the Briton, have not been slow in taking advantage of the situation. They come forward in increasing numbers, and while many in the distressed areas of England are enduring great privation, these men of foreign stock are enjoying apparent prosperity. We are convinced a most vigorous campaign is needed to arouse the Briton to the great opportunities awaiting him."

"As the Empire Marketing Board fosters trade, so should there be an organization to encourage the fluidity of labor throughout the Empire," the report concludes.

London, Jan. 16.—General Bramwell Booth, in a statement given to newspapers yesterday, announced he would not resign as commander-in-chief of the Salvation Army.

This statement was understood to be the gist of his reply to the High Council of the army, and The London Daily Herald said it had been rejected by a show of hands.

The council then proceeded immediately to a discussion of his fitness to govern the army. Seven members of the High Council who presented to the general the proposal that he retire, reported they were convinced he was too feeble to continue effective performance of his duties.

AUTHORSHIP OF LETTER
The London Daily Sketch said the general's statement was regarded by members of the reform element in the High Council as not having been written or dictated by the general himself. Officials of the reform party were quoted as saying it was obviously impossible to reconcile the general's public statement with the report of the deputation which had visited him.

The language used was not that which we have been accustomed to hear from the general. It savors of bitterness and the general was never bitter, but others of his family perhaps may be.

GENERAL'S STATEMENT
General Booth's statement read: "In view of the widespread interest, I feel it my duty to issue a plain statement concerning my present position. For fifty-four years I spent all my time and energy and toiled incessantly amidst burdens of anxious care such as few men are called upon to bear in the Salvation Army. I have never before had a prolonged rest, but some months ago was ordered away by doctors so I might have a complete cessation from work."

"I, of course, made arrangements for carrying on the responsibilities which rested upon me. Chief of Staff Higgins is second in command, and he has full powers to act for me during my absence. I have yet to hear where he has failed."

COUSIN CALL
"In November last my illness became critical, and I have since learned that, following upon certain published bulletins indicating my recovery was doubtful, the High Council was called to consider the question of the future."

"The High Council has met to adjudge upon my fitness for my position, and with the desire to discuss proposals for radical changes in the constitution of the army."

POWER DENIED
"Legally the High Council has absolutely no power even to propose, let alone to make changes in the constitution, but I wrote to the council stating I should be prepared to consider any feasible scheme for broadening the constitution."

"I am informed my letter to the council was scarcely considered, and I was asked in reply to retire from office under what amounts to nothing less than a threat of expulsion. The only ground for this request, as far as I can ascertain, is that I am ill."

"Why should I retire? My leadership at the moment may not be what it was, but what guarantee or assurance have I that I would be replaced by one who would seek first and foremost to maintain the principles of the Salvation Army?"

FOUNDATION CHANGES
"I am responsible before God for the well-being of this great organization. I feel I should be less than a man, let alone the leader of a great religious organization, if I agreed to a request to retire at a time when, as I understand, there is agitation to change the foundation upon which the army rests. Therefore I am compelled to refuse to do so."

here and making more employment for immigrants who come to Canada.

INTEREST RATE
An increase to four per cent of the interest rate on post office savings accounts found support in a resolution passed by the convention this forenoon. It was claimed that increase would help the small investors and would be a means of procuring money for the Government at a low rate.

Application for equalization of freight rates from Alberta to lower British Columbia coast points on grain and grain products will be made to the Railway Commission by the United Farmers' executive, a resolution having been passed to that effect. It was pointed out that rates for British Columbia consumption were more than double rates for export and were "handicapping the British Columbia dairy and poultry industries and hindering the growth of the Alberta farmers' market."

Opposition to the re-election of H. W. Wood as president of the United Farmers Association was drowned in a vote which swept him into the first executive office for the fourteenth term. To a motion that he be "retired" as honorary president was added an amendment that he be made president. The amendment was passed by an overwhelming vote.

THE CHAMBER'S VICTORY

AFTER YEARS OF PERSISTENT EFFORT, initiated and pressed with unwearied vigor by Mr. C. P. W. Schwengers, the Chamber of Commerce has won a favorable decision from the Board of Railway Commissioners on its application for interswitching facilities between the Canadian Pacific and Canadian National Railways on the industrial reserve here. A special tribute of praise is due Mr. Robert Mayhew, who at this sitting conducted the Chamber's case in so convincing a manner, evoking from one of the commissioners the comment that he knew of no other city, as large as Victoria, in Canada, in which such facilities as those which were applied for did not exist.

Shippers of goods from this city for years have been at a serious disadvantage through the absence of interswitching facilities. The extra handling of various commodities from one railway to another has involved much additional cost, thus acting as a deterrent to the expansion of business. When the Railway Board's order has been complied with, however, this handicap no longer will exist and the whole community will benefit. The success of the Chamber's application is all the more noteworthy in view of the City's somewhat ambiguous attitude before the Commission.

CHICAGO MUST CLIMB DOWN

THE DECISION OF THE SUPREME

Court of the United States on the Chicago water case is the outcome of protracted litigation undertaken by the states of New York, Wisconsin, Indiana, Michigan and Pennsylvania to stop Chicago diverting water from Lake Michigan for domestic purposes in such quantities as will lower the level of the whole Great Lakes system. Canada, although not a party to the litigation, of course, had a common interest with the complaining states, and the Washington court's decision has been received with satisfaction at Ottawa. The highest tribunal in the neighboring republic found in effect that Chicago was not entitled to divert water for the purposes of sewage disposal, and that it only could continue its present practice of doing so until it had devised other means of supplying this need. The court added that only as an emergency measure to make navigation possible in Chicago harbor could the city be permitted to divert water from the lake at all.

The history of this diversion is interesting. In 1909 the governments of Canada and the United States, realizing the necessity of taking measures to protect the level of the Great Lakes in view of the growing diversion of water for industrial, power and canal development, and the special purposes of the many large cities bordering upon them, signed a treaty giving the amount of water that could be diverted by each country, subject to direction, within the fixed limits, by the respective governments. To facilitate the operation of the treaty there was an International Joint Commission on Boundary Water composed of six members, three from Canada and three from the United States.

For years Chicago has been diverting water from Lake Michigan, apparently in connection with its drainage canal flowing into the Illinois River, which is a tributary of the Mississippi. In 1910 the quantity allotted to Chicago for this purpose was 4,167 cubic feet a second. For some time, however, that city has been using 10,000 cubic feet a second. This immense diversion aroused the apprehension of the other cities on the Great Lakes in both Canada and the United States, which feared that it would reduce the level of the lakes to a point that would be disastrous to their interests. The states of New York, Michigan and Wisconsin, as well as the Province of Ontario, vigorously protested.

Chicago claimed that its diversion of water was necessary to the health of its rapidly-growing population. Its opponents claimed that the drainage canal was nothing less than part of an ambitious scheme to develop a waterway from Chicago to the Gulf of Mexico by way of the Illinois and Mississippi rivers. Finally, in 1925, the United States Secretary for War authorized a diversion of 9,500 cubic feet a second, to be reduced to 8,000 by December 31, 1929, and to 4,167 or less by or before 1935. This action of the Secretary for War was attacked by the six states we have mentioned, and the matter has been before the United States Supreme Court for more than a year. Chicago had the backing of its own state, Illinois, and, significantly enough, Mississippi, whose interest in Chicago's sewage problem is rather difficult to understand.

The decision of the Supreme Court, as given by Chief Justice Taft, appears to go farther than some of the complainants expected, since it enjoins Chicago from diverting any water for sewage purposes, and orders that city to make other arrangements. Indeed, the only circumstance in which Chicago is permitted to take water from the lake at all is to meet the special exigencies of navigation in Chicago harbor.

CORDIAL INDUSTRIAL RELATIONS

SOMETHING OF WHICH THE CANADIAN people might well take notice is a statement from Hon. Peter Heenan, Minister of Labor in the King Government, that, since he assumed the portfolio, forty-eight disputes affecting about 90,000 workers—or with their families, some 350,000 Canadian citizens—had come under the consideration of the Department and had been settled without strike or lockout or the waste of one day's time.

It probably would be safe to say that only a comparatively small number of people in Canada had any idea that there had been forty-eight industrial disputes in the last two years—Mr. Heenan was sworn in as Minister of Labor in the Fall of 1926—or that so many Canadian workers had been involved. In view of the Minister's statement, however, they now will be able to appreciate the co-operative spirit which obviously has marked the relationship between employer and employee and the reliance which both apparently place in the machinery of the Department over which Mr. Heenan presides.

Canada's Industrial Disputes Act, of course, many times has been referred to by other countries as a model piece of legislation. Not long ago, it will be recalled, the British Government was urged to use it as the foundation for a new industrial arbitration measure solely on account of the success which had attended its operation in this country. It would not be fair either to employer or employee, however, to suggest that a mere statute had preserved peace in the industrial realm of the Dominion. The record to which Mr. Heenan refers obviously reflects mutual understanding and toleration—characteristics which have materially contributed towards the growing importance of Canada's economic progress.

PRACTICALLY UNANIMOUS FOR PACT

IN SPITE OF THE SOMEWHAT FIERY blasts of Senators Reed and Blaine the United States Senate, yesterday ratified the Kellogg anti-war pact by a vote of eighty-five to one, without any amendments or reservations. It also is said that if the nine absent members had been present, there would have been nine more votes in favor of the treaty.

Public opinion in the United States is anti-war. Failure to ratify the Kellogg proposal, of course, would have been a serious mistake and would have given rise to a good deal of suspicion throughout the rest of the world. Nor need much stock be taken in the suggestion that yesterday's almost unanimous vote was the result of a bargain between the big navy group and anti-war group. We doubt very much whether the cruiser programme even in its somewhat indefinite form will go through, if it does go through, by anything but a very small margin of votes.

Although the Kellogg treaty has not outlawed war, the fact that many countries have signed it, thereby renouncing war as an instrument of national policy, is an assurance to the world at large that resort to arms in the future is much less likely than it ever has been since the dawn of civilization.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

CANADA AND THE B. W. L.

The Manitoba Free Press

The Maritime Provinces are looking for great benefit from the steps that have been taken to stimulate trade between Canada and the British West Indies, but there is no reason why the whole Dominion should not benefit very materially. The trade has been increasing rapidly in recent years and is now about $50,000,000 a year. It has increased $12,000,000 since the tariff preferences became effective in 1926, and it will be further increased by the new steamship service which the Canadian National Railway is providing.

THE GREAT ILLUSION

The Saskatoon Star-Phoenix

(Lord Melchett advocates a "ring-fence, a tariff wall, built around the Empire.") Lord Melchett's idea belongs to a day that is past. Thirty and forty years ago people were talking vaguely about Empire federation and the creation of a Parliament at Westminster, and which every British country should be represented and which should formulate commercial and defence policies which should form a commonwealth. That is a dream which practical politicians no longer entertain. The new concept of the Empire is of a partnership of equal states, each developing its own characteristic economic life and culture in its own way.

MADE-IN-CANADA GOODS

The Brockville Recorder and Times

If every Canadian, as the Labor leader says, could be induced to express a preference for Canadian-made articles and to put it into practice, unemployment would be an unknown condition in this country and there would be room in Canadian industry for many more workers than it now supports. How about practicing such a preference for Canadian goods during the new year? There may be some articles which it is necessary for us to import from other countries that are large purchasers of our own products, in view of the fact that they are not made or grown in Canada itself, but there can be no doubt that every year Canada is consuming a large quantity of imported articles which are made just as well in this country by Canadian manufacturers employing Canadian workers.

The made-in-Canada movement is to-day just as worthy of support as it was at the time of its introduction at the commencement of the century.

A THOUGHT

The Error: Declarer takes the trick with Queen of Clubs.

The Correct Method: Declarer should take the trick with King of Clubs. If Queen of Clubs is played he removes from the Dummy the necessary reserve entry required to assist in establishing the heart suit.

The Principle: When you have the choice of taking a trick in the Dummy or your own hand, determine the effect, before taking the trick.

HOTEL SPACE IS AT PREMIUM

Hotel accommodation at a premium in January. This is the situation existing today at the Empress Hotel, where there has been a temporary waiting list for rooms. Many visitors arriving in the city daily from outside points and the year's early travel movement appears likely to continue.

The congestion at the Empress Hotel is largely due to the fact that a whole block of guest rooms are at present being remodeled and are now in the contractor's hands. Delegations waiting upon the Government preliminary to the opening of the Legislature and the convention of the western section of the American Laryngological, Rhinological and Otolaryngological Society, which opened here to-day, have been, to some extent, responsible for hotel activity during the last few days.

The local hotels are daily recording increasing lists from the prairie provinces, which is an indication of the commencement of the annual trek of farmers to the Coast.

Grain Charterers Pleased With Port Facilities Here

Representatives of Kerr-Gifford and Company Arrange for Conference With Principals of Panama Pacific, With View to Establishing Victoria Connections; Say Victoria Elevator Excellent; Do Big Export Business

Arrangements for the handling of export grain at the port of Victoria were classed as "excellent" yesterday by representatives of Kerr-Gifford & Company Incorporated, a well established firm of elevator owners and exporters at Portland, Ore. The firm has under consideration the possibility of routing its grain vessels here to take care of a portion of an extending business. Officials of the company were here yesterday to see if satisfactory arrangements could be made in that connection.

Phil Benedict, from the Portland headquarters of the firm, said the Ogden Point elevator arrangements were first class, and stated that a further conference would take place when the head officials of the Panama Pacific Grain Terminals Limited were in the city. D. A. Leach, from the Seattle branch of the firm, and Roger Seattin, branch manager here for the D. P. line of the Seattle Chamber of Commerce were other in the party.

Kerr-Gifford & Company are large charterers of grain carrying vessels and actively engaged in the export trade to the Orient and United Kingdom. They own an extensive fleet of elevators of their own on the Pacific Coast and have been long established in the export trade.

Speaking for the party, Mr. Benedict told The Times that the object of the visit had been to investigate what arrangements were available here for the handling of export cargoes, with a view to the establishment of connections at this point by the firm's representatives.

If Kerr-Gifford & Company should decide to do business through this port, in addition to their existing facilities, it would mean the routing of many grain vessels under their charter to this port for the loading of grain, it was intimated.

The party were shown over the elevator by James Burden, the operating superintendent for the Panama Pacific owners, company with Mayor Herbert Anson and Alderman W. T. Straith, chairman of the industrial committee of the City Council.

SEEK CONNECTION

Speaking for the party, Mr. Benedict told The Times that the object of the visit had been to investigate what arrangements were available here for the handling of export cargoes, with a view to the establishment of connections at this point by the firm's representatives.

If Kerr-Gifford & Company should decide to do business through this port, in addition to their existing facilities, it would mean the routing of many grain vessels under their charter to this port for the loading of grain, it was intimated.

EXPLANATION

To the Editor—Owing to circumstances which have arisen over which I had no control, I abandon my intended trip to South Africa.

JOHN DEAN.

Victoria, Jan. 15, 1929.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO TO-DAY

The Victoria Daily Times, January 16, 1904.

When a few months ago it was announced that anthracite coal of the first quality had been discovered in the Comox coal fields, few appreciated the significance of the find and the ultimate effect it would have upon the trade of Vancouver Island. But while the importance of the discovery may not have been fully appreciated locally, it has attracted the attention of the transportation princes of the continent and the result is that a representative of perhaps the greatest railroad in the world is in Victoria to-day ascertaining the extent of the new fields and the terms on which the output can be acquired. The gentleman referred to is J. D. Ferrell, the city's representative of James J. Hill, and the object of visiting the city is to make arrangements to secure from the Dominion a supply of coal for the mammoth liners which the president of the Great Northern system will place on trans-Pacific service during the coming summer.

Victoria and vicinity—Weather Forecast—Fresh or strong easterly winds, lower temperature, with rain or sleet.

The annual report of the City Health Officer, Dr. Robertson, was given to the City Council last evening.

Mayor-elect Barnard and the new aldermen were formally sworn in this morning before Mr. Justice Martin. They take up the responsibilities of their offices to-day.

RADIO ADDRESS BY AL SMITH

U.S. Democratic Leader Declines to Divulge Topic Till He Starts

New York, Jan. 16.—Alfred E. Smith will address the people of the United States to-night—ever—a coast-to-coast hookup.

The subject of his discourse will not be revealed until he faces the microphone. Even Democratic leaders, including Chairman John J. Raskob and Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York State, professed ignorance of the topic on which their party's recent presidential candidate would speak. Governor Roosevelt indicated that by virtue of Mr. Smith's position as the titular head of the party, it was his privilege to make the radio address without consulting party leaders regarding its subject matter. The speech, which will be started at 8:30 p.m. Eastern Standard Time, (5:30 p.m. Victoria time), will be broadcast over a chain of thirty stations linked with WEAF of the National Broadcasting Company.

MOTHERS AND THEIR CHILDREN

One Mother Says:
I feel that every child should have pets to love and care for but it is unfair for them to have them at such a baby age that they are cruel to the pet and likely to be hurt by them. In this day when a boy kitten looks enough like the real animal to be mistaken for life I have chosen good imitations and teach my little ones that it must not be crushed or hurt. I teach them to be gentle and loving with toys so that they will be able later to really care for and love a live animal.

A CARD TABLE TRAY DOUBLES USEFULNESS OF TABLE
By Florence La Ganke

The evening had been spent in playing cards. The guests had enjoyed the rubbers but were quite ready for relaxation, gossip and refreshments. They all exclaimed when the hostess brought in the trays. Instead of removing the cards, tables and markers she set a tray which was just a bit smaller than a card table top right over the playing space. But the cards did not have to be removed for the tray was on legs. There were five in all, one in centre and one at each corner. They stood about an inch high, thus clearing the clutter on the table. There was half inch ledge around the tray on all four sides.

A square luncheon cloth was spread on tray, napkins and silver were placed and then plates and cups with accents were set in place. The whole thing was arranged in the kitchen and placed with no delay.

Nancy and Peter were talking about the tray afterwards. "We could make such a tray of light weight three-ply wood, or even of beaver board with that extra peg leg in the centre. By lacquering each one a gay color we could make them ornamental as well as useful."

LIFE OF PIONEER JAMES DOUGLAS IS VIVIDLY TOLD

Prof. W. M. Sage Heard By Canadian Club in Fine Address on Early B.C.

Sir James Douglas, whom the lecturer described as "the greatest man in the history of British Columbia," formed the subject of an interesting lecture by Professor W. M. Sage, M.A., Ph.D., of the department of history of the University of British Columbia, before a joint audience of members of the Canadian Club and the Women's Canadian Club last night at the Victoria High School.

Authenticity was given to the lecturer's statements by his frequent reference to old documents and letters placed at his disposal by the surviving members of the Douglas family and by the Provincial Archives and additional interest was lent by the series of about sixty slides many of them from pictures in the Archives, others kindly loaned by A. H. Maynard.

BIRTHPLACE UNCERTAIN
Professor Sage took issue with those who refer to Sir James Douglas as "a Hudson's Bay man first and last and always," pointing out that he was originally a Northwest Company man, remaining with that company for some years before transferring to the Hudson's Bay service. He told of the early years of the Scottish pioneer, whose birthplace was uncertain, of his boyhood days in Lanark, and his departure in 1819 on the great adventure in the New World.

His first stay at Fort William, then his long journey to the Columbia, graphically described. Tribute was paid to Lady (then Mrs.) Douglas, who on one occasion, during an uprising of the Indians, saved her husband's life through her courage and resource.

It was in 1830 that Douglas was transferred to Fort Vancouver, and in November, 1833, he received a commission as Chief Factor to the Hudson's Bay Company. Under his regime the business of the company was extended to Southern California, and at that time Douglas almost succumbed to the lure of the South and settled in California, according to the lecturer.

BUILT FORT VICTORIA
In 1842 he came to Vancouver Island and selected the site of Fort Victoria and in the following year, with the assistance of the Songhees Indians and using only wooden pegs in the absence of nails, old Fort Victoria was built. Blanchard was appointed the first Governor but, owing to having nothing to govern, Douglas, as Chief Factor of the Hudson's Bay Company, being really in charge, a situation leading to conflict. In 1843, he resigned and returned to the mainland.

Mr. Sage described the incidents leading to the proclamation of the Colony, and later, of British Columbia, and told many interesting incidents in the life of Sir James Douglas and the early history of Vancouver Island and the mainland.

HOUSEHOLD AIDS FREE FARM LIFE OF ITS DRUDGERY

United Farm Women Hear Cheering Report By President; Many Topics

Edmonton, Jan. 16.—Power of mechanical contrivances to lighten the burden of the farm woman was discussed in the report of the president of the United Farm Women's Association, delivered by Mrs. R. B. Gunn, before the members of the women's section in separate session yesterday afternoon. The women's president saw in electrical power a means of freeing the rural housewife from much of the drudgery her present position involves.

LENGLIN IN FAMILY ROW

Suzanne and Mother Hurriedly Leave Home of California Hostess With Son

Los Angeles, Jan. 16.—"Mrs. Baldwin never quarrels with a guest."
This was the formal statement that to-day had been issued at the Arcadia estate of Mrs. Anna Baldwin, daughter of E. J. "Lucky" Baldwin, concerning the sudden departure of Suzanne Lenglen, French tennis star, and Mrs. Baldwin's son, Baldwin, which last night had left Mrs. Baldwin in a state of collapse.
While efforts to locate Suzanne and Baldwin, who is her manager, thus far had failed to-day, a terse statement had been handed out by an attaché of the estate which read as follows:
"The statement that the Lenglens left the Baldwin estate January 10 is correct. That there was a row, however, is incorrect. Mrs. Baldwin never quarrels with a guest."
Checking out of the hotel last night Mrs. Lenglen was found to have engaged reservations on a train leaving for the East, but she was not aboard when the train left Los Angeles, nor was she aboard when the train reached Yuma, Ariz., early to-day, reports from there said.
Mrs. Baldwin's secretary, H. Dearborn, last night had reported that Mrs. Baldwin was in a state of "complete collapse" and was attended by her physician. The statement was given without any explanation of the cause of the collapse, but was in answer to published reports that a "row" had caused Mrs. Baldwin's son and Suzanne to leave the family home.
Mrs. Lenglen was accompanied from the estate by her mother. The tennis star denied reports of a row at her hotel, but also refused to give any explanation of the sudden departure of herself, her mother and Mrs. Baldwin's son from the home where they had been guests for a month.

Stripes Brighten Newest Sport Frocks

Blouses, Too, Lead Color to Season's Creations; Skirts Are Full With Novelty Pleating

A blue, white and beige sports outfit has its hand-blocked overblouse striped diagonally with blue and white and its white skirt gathered. A gold-yellow sweater, embroidered in white silk, tops a white kasha skirt with pleats. Unusual skirt pleats, novelty striping and a new tie effect distinguish a beige, yellow and green outfit.

By HENRI BENDEL

New York, Jan. 16.—Probably no type of clothes designed for Palm Beach and other southern resort wear attracts the attention that sports clothes do.

They hold their strategic position because they can be worn most universally. By that I mean that more people, in more parts of the country, need the sports type of frock than for instance, the bathing suits or the filmy chiffons for formal afternoon affairs.

INFLUENCE ALL FASHIONS

Moreover, in recent years, sports clothes have had a tremendous influence on the whole world of fashion. Everyone remembers the advent of the kerchief topping a formal evening gown. Cocktail jackets had their origin in sports cardigans.

Therefore the details of style that couturiers evolve for sports clothes are watched very minutely, not only by fashion experts but by individuals who follow the style.

NEW-STRIPES ARE NOVEL

Novelty stripes are being used in profusion on early Spring sports things. Not collegiate stripes and not broad, uninteresting—even stripes. But some kind of a combination of varying sized stripes, stripes and dots, stripes and checks. Much is made of color against a less bright background.

Much is made of blouses, and many times the overblouse or sweater is the colorful part of a costume. Skirts on the whole are full. Novelty pleating is used a great deal. Some skirts introduce the idea of plain, unadorned gathers, as a new way to get fullness. Since gathers have been out for many years, they do bring a certain sense of fresh novelty with their return.

A gathered white crepe skirt, in one of the new styles, is topped by an overblouse of hand-blocked silk in a modernistic pattern of blue, white and beige. A diagonal stripe of blue and beige heightens the colorfulness of the overblouse with a similar diagonal pattern up the sleeves and across a pocket on one side. A scarf of blue adds its bit too.

SMALL HAT FAVORED

Topping this sports frock is a little beige hat from Rose Valois with a draped banding of blue and beige chiffon. This hat is indicative of the small hat's favor this winter, provided it is svelt and smart.

Beige fallie, striped in yellow and green fashions, a charming little two-piece frock. The skirt's deep pleats are curved and stitched to fashion a long yoke effect and its lower edge has a sweet banding of the green with narrow stripes of the yellow above it.

This novelty striping circles the overblouse and the cuffs. The square neck has an interesting tie treatment, the tie ends really being an extension of the neck's banding. A beige bangkok hat has bandings of the colors in suede, exactly matching to complete the scheme.

FOR SWEATER SUITS

Sweater suits this Spring are apt to combine knitted sweaters with silk or fine wool skirts and often take their matching cardigans in the skirt's fabric.

A stunning gold-yellow and white sports suit has a box-pleated skirt of white kasha and its sweater embroidered in stripes and novelty diamond figures in white silk. The sweater simulates a little tie, by its embroidery.

Yellow hostery and white shoes are suitable accessories while a little white ballbunt hat is banded in the gold-yellow.

HOW AND WHEN TO GIVE COD LIVER OIL

Mrs. F. A. G. writes:

"My daughter, fourteen months old, has been walking since eleven months and has ten teeth. I want to add cod liver oil to her diet this winter. But how shall I go about it? She gets orange juice and cereal in the morning, soups and minced vegetables during the day and a bottle when she goes to bed. Should I stop this?"

"How can I make her hair grow? It is very thin and short."

ANSWER

The child of this age should be taking three meals a day, at seven, at twelve and at six or seven, and no bottle feedings at all. Three cups of milk along with her meals and an extra cup, if she wants it in the middle of the afternoon, usually about 4 o'clock. You can give one-half teaspoon of cod liver oil after each meal. It is better, I think, to give it alone from a spoon and not mixed with other food. If a child does happen to take a dislike to it, she would also take a dislike to the food in which it was placed, and I think that would be a sorry tale.

You know there are concentrated oils and flavored oils and oils mixed with malt that are perhaps more pleasant for the older child to take than the plain oil. But it is usually the attitude the mother takes that affects the child. If she turns up her nose and is heard to remark that she doesn't see how the child can stand such fishy stuff, then of course the child won't stand it. Presented as if it were ice cream and no fuss made over her for taking it—is another thing, and the child simply swallows it as a matter of course.

You must have noticed that some children inherit heavy heads of hair and some have thin wavy hair, no matter what is done for them. If the mother and father and families tend to have thin hair I don't think you can expect the child to differ greatly in this respect. Also, the fineness of the hair must be taken into consideration and that is entirely a matter of heredity.

The scalp should be kept clean, and a daily massage given with or without some oil. Also, the general health of the child is mirrored in the health of the hair. Rats fed on an inadequate diet have thin, lusterless hair, and this grows thicker and glossier when the right foods are given to make up an adequate and nourishing diet. To that extent we can certainly help the child to have a better head of hair.

Baron Rothschild's Bullfinch Which Sang Twelve Different Airs.

By PRESTON WRIGHT

"The Baron had a fondness for Bullfinches."

The Baron Rothschild who maintained the succession of the family's great European financial dynasty through the middle part of the nineteenth century had a fondness for bullfinches. How this came about makes a fascinating narrative.

About 1860, Baron Rothschild was touring the Tyrol when he stopped in a little village to have a fresh relay of horses put to his carriage. To him came a fine looking young peasant who had for sale a rather indifferent looking bird in an indifferent looking cage. The bird was a bullfinch.

The baron was not in the least attracted to the bird, particularly as he was traveling and thought it would be an unwelcome baggage in a carriage. But when it started to sing he changed his mind. With the utmost skill and precision it ran through the Gschuech and several German airs.

"What do you wish for this bird?" asked Rothschild.

"A florin, your excellency."

"This will do better," the financier replied, putting in the peasant's hand several pieces of gold.

The baron smiled as he noted the young fellow's ease.

"Have you any other bullfinches equal to this one?" he asked.

"Sixty," replied the peasant. He went on to explain that he made a business of rearing the birds for sale to travelers, but that so far trade hadn't been good, greatly to his disappointment, since he was hoping to marry a certain pretty Gretchen, with whom he had been in love for two years.

Rothschild scribbled his name and address upon a card and gave it to the peasant.

"I will be in Paris within a month," he said. "Bring your birds and call upon me."

In due time the Tyrolean arrived at the hotel of Baron Rothschild in the Rue Lafayette. Park bearing sixty small cages containing bullfinches. He presented the card the financier had given him to the man at the door, but the servant hesitated at admitting

Cubs Display Fine Improvement to Win From Seattle Club

Victoria Displayed Some Teamwork in Sending Eskimos Down to 3-1 Defeat in Game, Which Closed at Whirlwind Pace; Earl Robertson Gives Great Display in Cubs' Net; Jimmy Evans Gets Two Goals; Bill Borland, Injured in Last Period, and Carried From Ice; Cubs Safe in Third Place

Sweeping the Seattle Eskimos completely off their feet in the third period the Victoria Cubs broke their losing streak to defeat the igloo dwellers 3-1 in a fast and thrilling Pacific Coast Hockey League game last night at the Willows Arena. There was a small attendance of fans, and those who stayed away missed one of the best games of the season.

The third period produced the fastest hockey seen here this year. With the score tied at one-all both clubs battled tooth and nail for the lead. When Jimmy Evans, Victoria's hard-working centre man, poked home the rubber to put the Cubs on the right end of the score the Eskimos went to pieces. The Cubs just skated rings around them, and before the period ended Redpath had scored the prettiest goal of the night.

PLAY GETS HEAVY

Play was inclined to get rough in the last period with Seattle taking their defeat a little bitterly. Seven penalties were handed out during the sixty minutes with Victoria drawing around the odd one. Ernie Kenney, the Cubs' elongated defence man, was the worst offender, getting two rests in the cooler.

In the third period Victoria was awarded a penalty shot for Borland's heavy check on Jack Kelly but Redpath failed to score. Hardaker, the Esk's goalie, stopping the low shot with his skate. Shortly after this Borland was injured and had to be carried off the ice after being put into the boards by Redpath. The Victoria defence man drew a penalty for the heavy check.

ROBERTSON PLAYS WELL

No little credit for the Cubs' victory is due to Earl Robertson, the Victoria goalie. He played a great game and on more than one occasion saved the day when the Seattle forwards were right in on top of him. Only nineteen years of age, he is the youngest goalie in the league, and although the Cubs have been in a bad slump until last night it was not his fault the games were lost.

The whole Victoria team played better hockey than they have been showing in the past. The forwards passed the puck and the team looked a hundred per cent improved. It was a great start for Cliff O'Keefe, who was making his first appearance as coach of the club. O'Keefe will return to the game himself within a short time and the Cubs are expected to show still further improvement.

Jack Kelly and Jimmy Evans were the stars of the Victoria club although all of the team played well. These two in particular worked their heads off and Evans was a tower of strength on the defence his pokecheck breaking up innumerable rushes.

Of the Seattle team Cecil Browne played a good game while Bill Borland, former Cub, now with the Eskimos looked good on the defence. Sutherland was the pick of the forwards. "Smoky" Harris failed to show anything but a lot of speed.

CUBS IN THIRD PLACE

As a result of their victory the Cubs are now in third position two points ahead of the Eskimos.

The first period opened at a fast pace and it could easily be seen that both teams were out for a win. The Cubs drove in seven shots on Hardaker before Seattle tested Robertson. Robertson cleared a fast shot from Sutherland and the Victoria goalie kicking the puck out of the corner. Cecil Browne was right through and drove the puck into Robertson's pads but Ian called him offside. Redpath's bullet shot from the left boards rattled off Hardaker's stick. Both teams rushed on subs in order to keep up the telling pace. Kelly passed out in front of the net twice but there was nobody there to get them.

SEATTLE IN LEAD

Seattle went into the lead when Dan Daly took a pass from Robertson and pushed the puck into the net. Taking the puck in centre ice the defence man passed out to Lowe and then went in between the Victoria defence men to take the puck again for a goal.

This seemed to madden the Cubs and they tore in on Hardaker in an effort to tie up the score. Kelly drove in two quick shots but Hardaker kicked them out.

Jimmy Evans put the Cubs back on even terms after a pretty bit of combination play with "Ossie" Osmundsen. The opening for the goal was made by the latter. Taking the puck from Evans and the defence "Ossie" skated the puck into Hardaker's pads but Evans was right there to poke home the rebound.

Just as the period ended Seattle broke away on a pretty three-man rush but Kenny held Walker off his shot after he had taken a pass from Borland in the goal mouth.

In the second period the fast pace set by the teams in the first twenty minutes began to tell on the players. Sutherland took a pass from Lindsay to drive a hot one on the Victoria goal. The Victoria defence was hitting their men hard and nobody was getting through. Mickey Ion was calling up both teams frequently for offside and the fans were getting a little impatient.

Jack Walker, the veteran pokecheck king, was spilled on his ear as he tried to get in between Kenney and Redpath. Victoria was checking Seattle off their feet with the defence playing great hockey. Herman Runge and Sutherland went to the penalty box for two minutes for roughing it. Harris followed them shortly after for roughing Kelly. The period ended with Seattle one man short.

MISS CHANCE

Early in the third period the Cubs missed a fine chance to sew up the game when Jack Kelly passed out the puck in front of the goal but the centre man missed.

Jimmy Evans brought the house down when he gave Victoria the lead eight minutes and fifty-five seconds after the start of the period. Kelly was dumped but managed to slip the puck over the net. Evans who made no mistake. The goal came after a lot of hard work on the part of both Kelly and Evans.

Victoria was left with only five men when Kenney was sent to the penalty box. Seattle was penalized for cross-checking Harris. Seattle threw four men on the attack in an effort to score but Robertson had closed his net for the evening.

Cec Brown claimed a goal for Seattle when he shot during a scrimmage in the Victoria net. Before the game had begun he had no arguments.

REDPATH SCORES

Redpath scored the game for the Cubs when he skated the length of the ice and after Hardaker had saved his shot the fast-skating Victoria defence man slipped through the Seattle defence to pick up his rebound and poke it into the net. It was a well-earned goal.

Victoria was awarded a penalty shot for Borland's trip of Kelly but Hardaker saved from Redpath. A few minutes later Borland had to be carried off the ice after crashing into the boards. Redpath was given a penalty.

Seattle never looked dangerous after this and the Cubs skated off the ice with a well-deserved victory.

The teams were as follows:

DONNIE BUSH TO EXPERIMENT WITH PIRATES

Addition of Minor Leaguers and Trading of Wright Changes National Club. Team Has High Class Moundmen; Hargraves Will Be Pressed For Position

Pittsburgh, Pa., Jan. 16.—The Pittsburgh Pirates will open the 1929 season with an experimental team. Yet Donnie Bush, manager of the National League batting leaders, figures that the pennant race will be between Chicago and Pittsburgh.

The addition of two minor leaguers, the trading of Glenn Wright, and the recall of Adam Comery, an outfielder, make experimenting necessary. Jim Stroner, of Wichita, seems to be the "key man" of the proposed 1929 team. Stroner, who played in the minors last year, is a right-handed batsman. The Pirates place him in the lead, vacated by Wright, who was sent to Brooklyn for Jess Petty and Harry Riconda.

Earl Sheehy, late of Sacramento, replaces Grantham on first, while "Sparky" Adams completes the infield at second.

The Wander brothers are outfield fixtures, but left field is open. Comery, Grantham and Brickell battle it out for the infield, Comery having the edge.

The team has high-class moundmen, two good outpitches are stoned in Petty and Russell, and great things are expected of Larry French, Portland flookie. Right-handers include "Leich" Grimes, 1928 iron man of the league, who acquired twenty-five victories and pitched more innings than any other hurler. Krenner H. Meadows are back each claiming to be in excellent condition. Brane, who showed plenty of stuff last season, also is back. Two recruits who showed enough form to be retained are Blankship and Taucher. Dawson, Swanton and Heine round out the staff.

CATCHERS PLENTY.
Catchers are plentiful. Charley Hargraves will have to hustle to retain his position, with Hemley and Spencer doing the pushing.

Should Comery clinch left field, Grantham and Riconda may figure in a deal with the possibility that Grantham would be retained as utility man.

Fine Programme of Bouts Scheduled For Saturday Night at Tillicum Gym

After reviewing the programme of bouts for Joe Bayley's show at the Tillicum Club gymnasium Saturday night it looks as if the fans are going to sit in on a great evening's sport.

The opening bout between Tim Keel and Joe Foster, of Vancouver, looks like a bout full of action. Both boys are willing mixers and should throw a lot of gloves at one another. This will be the first time that these fighters have met. Porter winning the last bout by a close decision in four rounds. The local fighter who has to try hard to reverse the decision this time.

The bout between Charlie Bradshaw, the local hard-hitting junior welterweight, and Tommy Kish, of Port Angeles, should be a hot one. Both boys are rugged, willing fighters who pack heavy wallops in both fists. Kish, who is making his first appearance here is a Canadian boy having from Edmonton and now working in Port Angeles. Kish has fought Chris Langdon and Dave Lewis, and the bouts resulted in draws.

The semi-wind-up will bring together a clever boxer in the person of Langdon, the local Welsh fighter, who will stack up against Kels Ferguson, the sensational Vancouver lightweight, who Jack Allen predicts will soon be fighting the top-notchers.

Ferguson is a rugged two-fisted battler who boxes in from the top of the going, shooting in from the top of short-arm punches which pack plenty of steam. The local fighter is undoubtedly the cleverer and faster of the two but whether this will be sufficient to cope with the aggressiveness of the Vancouver fighter remains to be seen.

The ten-round main event between Foley and Fielding has lots of supporters who look for him to win the decision over the ex-champion. Foley training hard for the fight as he is more than anxious to win a clear-cut decision over the local fighter, who was awarded the decision in the last encounter on a foul.

Tickets for the contests went on sale to-day and from the way the boards are being snapped up it looks as if the boys will perform before a record crowd.

An examination by hospital physicians revealed concussion of the brain.

Slow Starters Are Beginning to Find Ice Legs In N.H.L.

Boston Bruins Troupe New York Rangers 4-1 for Their Seventh Successive Victory, Hurdling Detroit to Take Second Place, Three Points Behind Leaders; Montreal Canadiens Climb Into Second Place by Win Over Chicago in Dull Game; Americans and Ottawa Engage in Real Defensive Exhibition

Toronto, Jan. 16.—The slow starters are having their innings in the N.H.L. now that the season is approaching the half-way mark. The Boston Bruins and Montreal Canadiens, who trailed through the first quarter, climbed into second place in their division last night by trouncing the league leaders, Boston beat the New York Rangers 4-1 while the Canadiens took a closer game from Chicago 1-0. Boston started the year by winning only four of its first eleven games and drawing one. After passing the quarter post, the Bruins started winning and have won eight out of ten games. Last night's victory was the seventh in succession.

Helps Boston Win

who was traded to the Boston club by the Pittsburgh club in exchange for Frank Frederickson. In last night's game with the New York Rangers Mickey scored two goals to help the Bruins defeat the American group leaders 4-1. It appears that the Boston club got the edge on the trade. Mackay played with Vancouver in the former Western Canada League.

TRAIL WINS AGAIN

Trail, B.C., Jan. 16.—Trail continued their winning streak in the West Kootenay Hockey League last night when Nelson was taken into camp to the tune of 5-0.

HURDLE DETROIT

The victory broke the tie for second place in the American group putting Boston two points ahead of Detroit and three behind the Rangers.

The first minute of the game told the tale in Montreal. Mantha scored the goal at the end of the first sixty seconds. For the rest of the game, the Canadiens played a slow defensive game, holding off Chicago's weak attempts to score. The two points gained by the one goal lifted the Canadiens from a tie with Toronto for third place in the international group to undoubted possession of second place.

The rivals were idle last night.

BRILLIANT PLAYS

The New York Americans and Ottawa Senators, candidates for the distinction of being the league's best defensive teams, gave a demonstration of their favorite style of play that ended in a 1-1 draw. Two brilliant offensive plays by Frank Finnegan for the Senators and by Johnny Sheppard, and Rabbit McVeigh for the Americans brought the goals that punctuated twenty minutes of close checking.

Boston, Jan. 16.—The Boston Bruins chalked up their seventh straight N.H.L. victory by setting back the Rangers, 4-1, in a hard-fought contest here last night. The score failed to indicate the closeness of the struggle, for the Rangers were threatening at every stage. Mickey Mackay was the Bruins' brightest star, scoring two of the goals. Welland made the third tally and

OCEAN LINERS TOO HUGE NOW FOR NEW YORK

Port Authorities Find Difficulty in Accommodating Giant Floating Hotels

Boston Drydock Used When Liners Are Repaired in America

New York, Jan. 16.—Ocean liners longer than the piers and too big for handling in dry dock available in the harbor here are giving New York port authorities something to worry about.

Before the Leviathan and the Olympic and one of two other giants of the sea alone provided problems of handling their bulk in a crowded harbor, but now, with the two new German liners due here in the spring, a British thousand-footer under construction and building of other large ships planned, the situation has reached the point where added and greater facilities must be supplied shortly.

HUGE DOCK NEEDED

The port of New York Authority several times has appealed to the legislature of New York and New Jersey for construction of a drydock large enough to accommodate any vessel entering the port and for more docking facilities, especially on the New Jersey shore.

The Leviathan and other vessels now must be sent to Boston for drydocking, causing an extra expense of more than $20,000 yearly and diverting to that city since 1924 more than $1,000,000, which would have been spent here had facilities been available.

United States shipping interests have expressed willingness to use such facilities, pointing out that under the federal customs law their vessels must pay fifty per cent duty on repairs made in foreign ports.

Although foreign ships generally desire to overhaul in their home ports, it is believed the work upon occasion would be done here.

Longer piers have been needed for some time, but difficulty is encountered in meeting this need because of opposition to narrowing the waterways on which the ships are located.

Several shipping companies have been investigating the possibility of building a new port on Long Island.

COUNT CHINDA DIES IN JAPAN

Tokyo, Jan. 16.—Count Suteomi Chinda, aged seventy-two, Lord Chamberlain to the Emperor of Japan, died today after a short illness. If Stomach Hurts Drink Hot Water

Neutralize Stomach Acidity. Prevent Fermentation. Stop Indigestion

These words a well-known New York physician stated that most forms of stomach troubles are due to stomach acidity and fermentation of the food contents of the stomach combined with an insufficient blood supply to the stomach. Stomach acidity, which can be readily obtained at any reliable drug store, in either tablet or powder form, instantly neutralizes the excessive stomach acid and stops food fermentation, the combination of the two therefore being the most effective and decidedly preferable to the use of artificial stimulants or stimulants of medicine for indigestion.

CONTRACT SOON TO BE LET FOR NEW STEAMSHIP

Contract for the building of a new steamer for the Puget Sound Navigation Company for its Seattle-Victoria run will be let shortly, Alexander Peabody, vice-president of the company, who was in Victoria yesterday, told E. E. Blackwood, local agent. Changes in the plans of the new steamer have somewhat delayed the awarding of the contract which company officials originally intended to let before the end of November. Capt. Peabody went East in the meantime and while there decided to change the plans.

It is probable that a Seattle shipbuilding plant will receive the bid, although it is possible that the new ship may be built in California.

Vote Soon On U.S. Navy Bill

Senate Asked By Swanson to Approve Building of Fifteen Cruisers

Washington, Jan. 16.—Senate approval of the administration bill for the building of fifteen cruisers was asked today by Senator C. A. Swanson of Virginia on the theory that it would lead to a better and larger agreement for the limitation of naval armaments.

To pass the measure, the Virginian said, would be to give Great Britain "an object lesson" to the extent that it would demonstrate that the United States determined to place itself on a substantial equality with that country. He said the bill a "very moderate" program, which is absolutely necessary for the proper support of our present fleet.

SHIDZUOKA MARU EN ROUTE HERE

Bound for Victoria and Seattle, the N.Y.K. liner Shidzuoka Maru is now steaming away from the Japanese coast with a heavy cargo and a fair passenger list, advice received today by A. H. Hebb, local agent, said.

It is due here on Saturday, January 20. The ship's headquarters were advised that for this port the Shidzuoka has 133 tons of general cargo, including twenty-eight packages of raw and manufactured silk, and two third-class passengers.

BIG WAVE KILLS COOK ABOARD SS. MAJESTIC

New York, Jan. 16.—One cook was killed and several other members of the crew were injured by a gigantic wave that surged over the bow of the White Star liner Majestic on the crossing completed when the ship docked here today.

The wave twisted steel bulkheads, wet part of the mail, ruined part of the cargo and necessitated removal of the 289 third-class passengers to other quarters.

Banker Analyzes Rising Market

New York, Jan. 16.—A warning that the government and the business world should consider the possibility of a reduced national income when profits from capital appreciation are reduced, is contained in the annual report of Albert H. Wiggin, chairman of the board of the Chase National Bank of New York, which will be presented to shareholders at their annual meeting to-day.

"To an undue extent, in recent years, the American people have been selling capital assets at a profit and needlessly treating the profit as income," Mr. Wiggin states. "Fortunately, they have recapitalized by investment part of the profit, but not all has been spent in current consumption, and the volume of consumer demand has undoubtedly been increased thereby. Part of it, also, has been taken by the Government in taxation. More, too, unfortunately, the policy of return part of these profits to the capital market."

"The large revenues from profits based on capital appreciation have easily been made the excuse for increased appropriations by the Government for current purposes. Neither the Government nor the business world can afford to rely upon an indefinite continuance of a rising stock market. Both should consider the possibility of a reduced national income when profits from capital appreciation are reduced."

COMMON STOCKS Further explaining the relation of capital appreciation to the national income, Mr. Wiggin says that the drop in corporate profits in 1927, individual incomes received in 1927, reported for taxation in 1928, show a gain, and that increase revenue on individual incomes largely offsets the government's loss in taxation on corporate incomes.

"Every period of intense speculation in the stock market," Mr. Wiggin points out, "the slogan of the present period is the alleged 'superiority of common stocks over bonds and other securities. There are some bond issues that cannot be properly rated as investments. There are some equity stocks issued that can be rated as investments. Nevertheless, it behooves the investor to remember that a bond is a debt, whereas a common stock is a share in the capital of a business."

MONEY RATE FACTORS Reviewing the forces at work in the money market, Mr. Wiggin refrains from a forecast as to the trend of rates, but points out some of the important factors which may be expected to govern the supply and demand.

"On the side of demand," he says, "the all important factor appears to be the future course of the securities market. Stock market liquidation would work toward monetary ease, while a further rise in the stock market would tend to absorb the money market. On the side of supply, three factors appear to be outstanding: (1) Federal Reserve Bank policy; (2) volume of redemptions by member banks, which will have to be reduced before money becomes easy; and (3) the dependence of the stock market upon outside money, which, as indicated by the figures given above, has increased with the advancing rates. The international movement of gold may be an important factor, and this will depend primarily upon the policy of foreign central banks. Regarding the increase of over two billion dollars, or forty-five per cent, in brokers' loans during the past year, Mr. Wiggin says: "During the recent past, many corporations, formerly dependent on commercial paper borrowings, have found it possible to sell securities, in some cases, bonds and, in other cases, shares, so that undoubtedly the total of brokers' loans now include substantial amounts replacing commercial paper. This development has its favorable side. Concerns that have financed by this method find themselves in better credit standing than in the past, especially when the new issues have taken the form of shares. This accounts for part of the increase in brokers' loans."

"The greater part of the expansion of brokers' loans represents speculative activities and rising security prices. The new financing by corporations referred to above, in many cases, has secured capital in excess of their needs for commercial purposes, as is clearly indicated by the large amount of surplus funds loaned for account of corporations."

"The increase in brokers' loans for account of others (much of which is corporation money), for the twelve months ending December 26 was 131 per cent, or $1,316,432,000. (Federal Reserve Bank Figures.)

"Firms and corporations do well to hold liquid reserves for emergencies, but it can be carried to excess. The New York banks furnish the equipment for handling these loans, but act as lenders rather than as principals in lending the money and the firms and corporations are now engaged in the banking business."

Two outstanding developments in international relations are reviewed by Mr. Wiggin. The first is the visit of President-elect Hoover to Latin America, which he believes will be of great value in solving future diplomatic and commercial problems. The second development is the important negotiations, inaugurated by Mr. S. Parker Gilbert, looking toward a revision of the Dawes Plan. The American banking community, says Mr. Wiggin, has great confidence in Mr. Gilbert and he may be sure that the new plan will receive the most sympathetic study here.

Faded Hangers Pipe velvet frocks and other perishable fabrics should never hang on thin wooden hangers. It takes little time to pad out the shoulders, and your frocks will stay looking newly pressed.

Head Protectors If children sleep in a draughty room, tie a strip of ticking, cretonne or other firmly woven fabric across the head of their iron bed and tuck it under the mattress. This keeps the wind from blowing down their necks and protects their heads.

Plaster Protector To keep the plaster from cracking, when you drive a nail into the wall, dip the nail first into very hot water and hammer it in while hot and still wet.

A new alloy has recently been discovered with which glass may be cut covered with as readily as a piece of iron. It is made from cobalt and tungsten.

BY CAPLANE

(Exclusive Over B.C. Bond Corporation Leased New York Wires)

New York, Jan. 16.—New Haven convertible 6's of 48. Once more these bonds have advanced to a new high and have reluctantly given ground during the last few days of selling. Around 119 the yield on these bonds is but 5 per cent, and this will fall below 44 if held until maturity. Under such conditions this bond could not be considered suitable for investment purposes, particularly when the senior issues of this road are selling at a much more attractive yield. This issue, however, is convertible into common stock at par, and this accounts for the large premium now being paid for the bonds. Of course New Haven will have to advance to approximately $120 per share and pay better than 10 per cent annually before the conversion will be of importance. Far-sighted investors, however, believe that there are possibilities for such an advance in New Haven common, and we fully agree with those who think so. New Haven is staging a rapid comeback, and if the company is able to show only a little more improvement, the stock can readily cross parity, after which point the convertible bonds will begin advancing in sympathy with the stock. It may take some time for New Haven to reach these levels, but we do not doubt that this will happen. Those who have confidence in New Haven's future and at the same time desire a safe investment with a satisfactory yield should purchase New Haven convertible 6's for a long term holding.

Loews—Having crossed 70 for the first time since the Spring of last year, Loews is now at 75. The stock is one of the slower moving issues, but usually it held well after gaining new high territory. We look for some profit-taking to bring slightly lower levels to "fly," but it should rather be a signal to increase holdings than to dispose of a position already held.

A heavy turnover at the topmost prices ever recorded by this issue suggest nearby developments which should bring Pennsylvania, definitely into higher priced levels. As we

VANCOUVER MINING MARKET

Vancouver, Jan. 16.—Having established a record for all time yesterday, the Vancouver stock market started out this morning on a day that promised to equal the great trading of the record sessions. Practically every issue came into prominence, some, notably Reeves-McDonald, advanced materially, and others held their prices of the last two weeks.

Reeves-McDonald, leaping to 3.75 was the outstanding performer of the day. It started at 3.00, and on heavy buying ran up to the new high bid of half an hour. Pend Oreille sold steadily between 1.35 and 1.40.

Big Missouri led between .65 and 1.70 and Grandview from 80 to 85, evidently receding under profit-taking. It was being rapidly picked up at the lower prices just before the close.

Goldmine was a tower of strength at 92 to 95, while Georgia River, at 45 and 46, and Kootenay King, up to 80, gave nice demonstrations of firmness.

Gladstone, reported purchased by Consolidated in the Northwest Smelter deal, was a lively trader at 15 to 17, doubling since Tuesday.

Kootenay Florence brought 29 and 30. Noble Five was steady at 82, Piant at 82 and 83, with Rufus-Arizona again soaring and holding to prices between 51 and 54 all morning.

Ruth Hope brought 68 to 72, Silverado was up to 137 and 138, Slovan Rambler was up to 32, and Topley jumped to 61 in heavy trading. Beaver Silver was popular around 21, Marmot River Gold between 9 and 10, Silver Cup at 45. Silver Crest up to 40.

Georgia Copper, selling at 8.50 and Suncho at 4.25, were both firmly held at these prices with little stock going out.

The oils were somewhat neglected, although a fair amount of Babylon was sold at 5, and Home Oil brought 3.75.

TORONTO MINING MARKET

(Over R. F. Castle Leased Wire)

Toronto, Jan. 16.—Following, Mills & Co. to-day says: Price movements of the volume of stocks this morning on the Standard Exchange varied little from the close yesterday, but it was a short period before Big Missouri was subjected to intensive buying, moving the shares up from an opening price of 1.75 to 1.90. Here considerable realizing made itself felt, resulting in a decline to 1.65, similar to Vancouver's opening price. As was the case yesterday, resistance was offered at about this point, and in closing at 1.69-70, a loss of only six points for the day was registered.

Pend Oreille from a high of 14.10 sold off to 13.25 at the close, while Grandview consistently lost ground to 79 from an opening of 85.

Towards the middle of the session International Nickel was tipped off for a quick rise and did not disappoint its followers as shares moved from 53.50 to 56.45. A net gain of 3.35 was shown at the close of 56.50 to 46.75. Mond, not to be outdone, moved from 52.20 to 54.50. Unlike its big neighbors, Falconbridge, which opened at 6.00, did not rise to 6.30, without recovering any of its loss.

Ford of Canada Shows $4,000,000 Deficit For 1928

Windsor, Ont., Jan. 16.—That, on the real facts of the company's business there is not the slightest ground for the statement with speculation in the stock of the Ford Motor Company of Canada, was the positive statement issued yesterday by W. R. Campbell, vice-president and treasurer of the corporation. As a matter of fact, Mr. Campbell said, the Canadian Ford Company has suffered a deficit of approximately four million dollars on its operations during the year 1928, and there is not the slightest possibility of dividends being declared in 1929.

"I am calling the public's attention to this matter," Mr. Campbell said, "only because we are being besieged with inquiries from many sources and I believe it is incumbent upon us to make a statement."

Because of its advanced mechanical set-up, the Ford taxicab, is said to be exceedingly economical to operate and maintain, its low cost per mile being one of its strongest factors.

It is a four-cylinder car, with a rating of 24.63 horse power on a 103 1/2-inch wheelbase.

To save the blon from extinction the Canadian Government formed and protected a herd of 709 in 1907, and there are now 1,500 animals on various reserves.

Henry Ford Produces New 4-Person Taxicab

Detroit, Jan. 16.—A new four-passenger taxicab was announced to-day by Henry Ford. Designed to meet modern traffic conditions, it is on a Ford Model A chassis and built to withstand the rough usage to which cars in this particular service are subjected. The lines of the body are strikingly different from the familiar taxicab designs, but with ample room for four passengers, there being a folding auxiliary seat.

The driver's seat is fully enclosed, being separated from the passenger compartment by a metal and glass partition. Seats and back cushions are finished in genuine leather of gray shark grain. Luggage space is in the front apartment, and as a safety feature triplex shatterproof glass is used throughout.

THE COMPANY

The companies sell these products to a wide range of customers, including the leading cities, municipalities, transportation, mining and industrial companies.

ASSETS

The combined assets of the Companies, as at November 30, 1928, after giving effect to the proposed new financing and to the acquisition by Gordon & Belyea Limited of the outstanding capital of Simson, Balkwill & Company Limited as certified by Messrs. THE OLD ORDER CHANGES

By DAVID LYALL

"Hallo, Debby!" said Mary pleasantly. "Everybody in?"

"All but master, Miss Mollie. We don't see too much of him these days." "Where's he?"

"Upstairs making a new blouse. Missus is there too—and I thought I saw Master Tom a minute ago."

"He's there, just coming in," said Mary, and the sound of their voices penetrating upstairs brought her mother out to the landing, and presently she appeared on the stairs. She looked astonishingly young to be the mother of a grown-up family. The women who do not feel deeply, whose heart-life is only partially developed, wear well and preserve their youth. It is the emotions that take toll of youth, engraving the lines here and there, and giving a certain furtive sorrow to the eyes. But there comes with it all a certain wistful beauty discerned by those to whom the soul is more than meat and raiment.

Mrs. Freeland looked scarcely older than Mary, and her dress was equally youthful. Although her figure was rounded it was still gracefully proportioned, and the waist where the dainty white silk blouse met the neat serge skirt very clearly defined. She took great pains with her hair, waving and brushing it continuously, following directions obtained from the various ladies' journals which she studied religiously regarding dress and personal appearance. It was a rather attractive shell, but there was something cold and calculating in her clear gaze. She did not at all like having a daughter of twenty-six, and often wondered why neither of them got married.

Harriet Freeland was a woman who, in a different environment, would have become quickly detached from her home environment, and found enjoyment elsewhere. She cared greatly for the admiration of men and honest Robert Freeland, a husband of the old-fashioned kind, had never given her what she considered her full meed of admiration.

"You are late, Mary," she said, unwillingly admitting that Mary looked more attractive than usual.

"Not so very, mother, but it doesn't matter, does it? Nothing doing, is there?"

Mrs. Freeland slightly frowned. "You are one of the sort that never finds anything doing at home, Mary," she answered severely. "Now, what has Tom got? I want the meal over. He promised to take me to Gormham Lacy and back on the side-car."

"Is father over there?" asked Mary. "No, your father's at Manchester, and won't be back till to-morrow."

Mary remembered then, and ran upstairs to dress herself of her hat and wash her hands. "Now, what has Tom got? I want the meal over. He promised to take me to Gormham Lacy and back on the side-car."

"Is father over there?" asked Mary. "No, your father's at Manchester, and won't be back till to-morrow."

Mary remembered then, and ran upstairs to dress herself of her hat and wash her hands. "Now, what has Tom got? I want the meal over. He promised to take me to Gormham Lacy and back on the side-car."

"Is father over there?" asked Mary. "No, your father's at Manchester, and won't be back till to-morrow."

This monstrous suggestion was received in stony silence by the table, though Bee ventured on a slight giggle. Mrs. Freeland's temper was the reckoning factor in the household at Coppetia. It was very fiery and at times vindictive. When in the throes of it, she did not care how she wounded. It was only by silence that Robert Freeland had learned to evade it. But it was his cross and had been a fiery test of his love. Fully aware that he had taken the line of least resistance in a great many matters in which his judgment warned him to act differently, he had proved stronger than his wife anticipated in matters of conscience. She had got hold of the phrase, "I'm sure I never would have a man-servant," and frequently brandished it over him without, however, making much impression.

Mary was like him in temper, disposition, and principle. Mrs. Freeland really secretly feared them both, though she bullied them unmercifully. Mary, not feeling in the mood for open discussion of a subject on which she felt sensitive, merely answered, "Bee is talking through her hat, mother. My time is up at Mardocks in three weeks, worse luck. Are you going to Gormham to-night?"

"Yes, we're all going," said Bee triumphantly. "Tom says I can ride behind."

"It isn't very dignified, but I need your advice about the wallpaper, my dear," said Mrs. Freeland, the words uttered as a pointed shaft for Mary. "You'll enjoy the ride; it's a lovely night," said Mary. "I'll go and see Granny."

"And sit in judgment on Gormham Lacy," no doubt, said her mother drily. "I owe Granny a grudge, for your father has never been cordial about our removal since he went down to tell her, and she has absolutely refused to come and occupy the rooms I was taking such pains to plan for her."

"I don't blame her either. Upon the floor, I suppose, and Granny's poor legs what they are! She likes to get out from the front door to her little garden, and sit in the sun. One of the lodges would be one of them for her."

Her mother's glance was sufficient to wither a less sturdy spirit than Mary's.

"I really don't know what you will suggest next. It is not usual for the squire's mother to live in a lodge on the estate. You ask your friend, Mrs. Mollie, no, your father's at Manchester, and won't be back till to-morrow."

Mary remembered then, and ran upstairs to dress herself of her hat and wash her hands. "Now, what has Tom got? I want the meal over. He promised to take me to Gormham Lacy and back on the side-car."

Mary remembered then, and ran upstairs to dress herself of her hat and wash her hands. "Now, what has Tom got? I want the meal over. He promised to take me to Gormham Lacy and back on the side-car."

"Is father over there?" asked Mary. "No, your father's at Manchester, and won't be back till to-morrow."

THE OLD ORDER CHANGES

By DAVID LYALL

dividing up work, and what would be mine and what other folk's. It would put me clean crazy. There might be even a man-servant. I shouldn't wonder but the missus has got that up 'er sleeve. How could I put up with that, do you think? Not me!"

"I'm sure I never would have a man-servant," cried Mary, agitated at this flight of imagination.

"You wait and see, Miss Mary. It's what the missus wants you'll be 'avin' over there."

Mary, looking very thoughtful, decided against another bicycle ride and proceeded on foot, following the winding of the Polder, which Granny insulted by calling the burn, comparing it with the noble river on whose banks she had been cradled in the far back days. She soon came within sight of the little rose-covered cottage where the old lady had found a refuge dear to her heart, and where she was as completely contented as she could be out of her native land.

She was absolutely dependent on her only son, and when he decided the quiet mountain land and make her home with him, she offered no objection. The offer had been made with his wife's full concurrence but the experiment was not a success.

"There was no quarrel, because old Mrs. Freeland had never in her life quarreled with anybody. It was not her method of getting what she wanted."

She was a deeply religious woman, who put first things first, but she had not been able, after much searching, to find a common meeting ground with her English daughter-in-law. Even love for the children had not provided it. She had no shame in being dependent on her son, because the love between them was of that rare kind which forbade the smallest misunderstanding, when one day she went to him in his office at the mill and said quietly, "Robert (being a West Countryman she pronounced her son's name as if the vowel in the first syllable were "o"), instead of "o", I want you to find me a wee house, a but and ben will do, my lad, but I would like a place to myself."

Freeland looked his mother straight in the face, asked no questions, but said very simply, "Very well, mother." He found the wee house without difficulty, and put his mother in it, and there was neither dispute nor fret over it at Coppetia.

"My mother's gettin' old, Harriet," Freeland said to his wife. "And it'll be better for everybody if she has a place to herself."

Mrs. Freeland decided not to make a grievance of it, though rather inclined to nagging. It was a secret relief, and it also gave her an extra room in a house none too large for her family requirements.

The old lady was as happy as a queen in her rose-covered bower, though her domestic help was of the distinctly casual order. Sometimes she had none at all. But she was still very hale and hearty and very skilful in all household affairs, as became the widow of a shipwright who had brought up a considerable family, all of whom dead but her son, Robert. She was very fond of her grandchildren, but George, the boy killed at Ypres, and Mary were her favorites, partly, no doubt, because they favored the Freeland side of the house.

She was busy at her knitting when Mary entered, and looked the picture of dignified, contented old age. No one regarding her rosy face and bright black eyes would have credited her seventy-six years.

"I was wonderin' whether any o' ye were over for the night, lassie," she said, smiling happily on Mary. "A wee bit, my dear."

"Yes, Dad's at Manchester, and all the rest have gone over to Gormham Lacy."

"I see. When'll it be ready?"

"Oh, soon. Won't you change your mind, Granny, and come and live with us there. It's so big you could hide yourself away from us if you like."

The old lady shook her head.

"No, me lassie. I'm a right here."

"But think how lonely you'll be, Granny!"

"I'm a lonely, Debbie is comin' to bide with me. We've arranged it."

Mary made a little grimace.

"I'm an old plotter, Granny, and I really don't know what mother will say."

"Deborah has been speakin' about retirin' for more than a year. She's saved a bit. It's just an obligation come here. She'll be cheaper than takin' lodgin's anywhere else, and it'll suit me fine."

"Arch plotters the pair of you!" she repeated.

THE TINY TINKLES

STORY BY HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KNECK

READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE

The little dwarf stood on the ground in the face of a question, but he said, "Well, good luck, my lady. Be sure and hang on tight. You all can take this word from me: Your engine's safe as it can be. As long as you behave yourselves you'll all come out all right."

Then Scouty shouted: "Thank you, sir! We're ready for what will occur. We much enjoyed our visit in your condenser, and we're sure we'll be sure to come back here. We'd like to visit you each year. If trouble comes we'll call on you. We're sure you'll lend a hand, and the dwarf replied, "And now, goodbye. Enjoy your ride. The engine wings will flap away until you're out of sight. Then you will find a place that's new, where there are lots of things to do." And, as the Tinlins disappeared, he waved with all his might.

To your sixteen twenty little Tinlins. No, it will be all right for you to stand outside Lulu's window and cheer her up by twinkling your pink nose at her through the glass, but don't go inside."

"All right, I'll do that," said Mr. Longears. So he hoped to the duck house, and when he saw Lulu, he saw Uncle Wiggily's head poking out of the window. Uncle Wiggily looked in and saw Lulu's red spots and she said, "Look at that! What a lovely little duck!"

But after a while Lulu wanted to be amused more than that, so she sadly quacked:

"Couldn't you blow me some soap bubbles? I could watch you through the glass and make bubbles for me. Please blow bubbles!"

"I will!" offered Uncle Wiggily.

Mrs. Wiggible bubbled brought him a bowl of soap water and an old pipe the children had used for making bubbles that last time they had a surprise party. Uncle Wiggily dipped the pipe in the soap water and blew a large bubble. But when it floated off the end of the pipe bowl, when it was about as large as a grape fruit, why that bubble didn't burst! Instead, it floated through the air and even when it struck against the window, behind which sat Lulu, the bubble did not burst. Instead it made a funny tinkling sound.

"Oh, how funny!" quacked Lulu. By this time Uncle Wiggily had blown more bubbles which he tossed off the pipe. But each bubble, instead of bursting, sailed over to Lulu's window, tapped a tinkling sound against the glass and then floated gently down to the snow. And soon there was a large pile of bubbles beneath Lulu's window. Each bubble was colored red, blue, green, purple and golden.

"Why don't the bubbles break?" quacked Lulu, who was forgetting all about her measles. "What makes them make the tinkling sound?"

"Because," said Uncle Wiggily, "they are ice bubbles. As fast as I blow them the soap bubbles, which have water in them, freeze and become ice bubbles. And, being of ice, they tinkle when they hit your window."

"Oh, I think ice bubbles are lovely!" quacked Lulu. "They last so long!"

Then Mr. Longears blew more and soon Lulu fell asleep.

And if the postman will put a red ribbon on the milk pail on me, I'll be a necktie, I'll tell you to-morrow about Uncle Wiggily's bark gun."

"Oh, dear!" quacked Lulu. "Have I got the Ho Hums as well as the measles?"

"No, dear!" quacked Lulu. "Have I got the Ho Hums as well as the measles?"

"Oh, no!" laughed Dr. Postum. "I just said that because I was up late last night. No, you have only the measles. But you must stay in the house and keep warm."

So Lulu stayed in bed and after a while she began to get lonesome, for her mother couldn't be with her all the time and Alice and Jimmie were in school and she felt quite "miserable," as she called it.

"Couldn't Uncle Wiggily come to see me and cheer me up?" quacked poor Lulu to her mother, who was making corn meal cakes for tea.

"I'll telephone and ask him," said the duck lady. And when Uncle Wiggily, in his hollow stump bungalow, got that message he said:

"Why, of course, I'll hop over right away and cheer up Lulu."

But his wife said: "Oh, you mustn't go in the room where Lulu is. She has the measles."

"Poo! I'm not afraid! I've had measles!" said the bumpy uncle.

"Yes, I know," spoke Mrs. Longears. "But you might bring them back here."

The Newfoundland soon departed, the engine accompanying him. But at the end of two days the terrier again was at home seemingly contented that he had thoroughly attended to the case of the retriever.

Freezing within a few hours after placing concrete interferes with the chemical reaction between the water and the cement and makes the concrete much weaker.

STABBED BY SCIATICA SHARP AS A KNIFE

Hillsdale, Ontario, woman appreciates safe, speedy relief T-R-C's gave

The racking pain of Sciatica nearly drove Mrs. E. Thompson frantic. Although she knew something of herbal remedies herself, she could do nothing to relieve the torture in her hip. Desperate, she happened to read about Templeton's Rheumatic Capsules. Straightway she set out for Orillia to get a box of T-R-C's. That ride, only a few miles, seemed endless.

"I could scarcely sit in the train because of the pain," she writes. "Finally I got to Orillia. I told the druggist I couldn't take very strong medicine and asked him for a box of T-R-C's. 'Perfectly,' he said, 'I got a box.' 'I am glad I did. Before I finished the first box I had the greatest relief and quickly got over my pain. I have recommended T-R-C's to many friends—always with good results.'

Are you in misery with Sciatica? With Rheumatism? Lumbago? Neuritis? Neuralgia? Why? Your druggist has T-R-C's ready and able to give you speedy relief—with absolute safety, too, as T-R-C's are entirely free from habit-forming or dangerous drugs. A wonderful relief. Provide you use by thousands of grateful people.

There is no mystery about the action of T-R-C's. They enter the bloodstream. Go to the root of the trouble. Help your body throw off the poisons that are making your life wretched. Get a box of T-R-C's. Enjoy good health. 50c and $1 at all druggists.

To-morrow's Horoscope

THURSDAY, JANUARY 17, 1929

This should be a fairly lucky day for all who are willing to use their best energies.

According to astrology benefic aspects are fairly active. In the early morning there may be a tendency for men to doubt their own best talents. They should act rather than plan while this rule prevails. Under the planetary government all who are clever at detail should benefit. There is a sign of promise for those who contribute to the success of plays, but are never known to the public. Women should push all important matters to-day, for there is an aspect that seems to promise success. The stars smile on those who wed under this rule, which is read as promising material as well as spiritual progress. Financial matters are subject to an encouraging aspect which seems to be especially lucky for women. Young folk should benefit while this planetary rule continues, for it is believed to awaken high ambitions and to increase mental activity. Geniuses are to win recognition in America for service in the arts and sciences. Great inventors are to win fame this year.

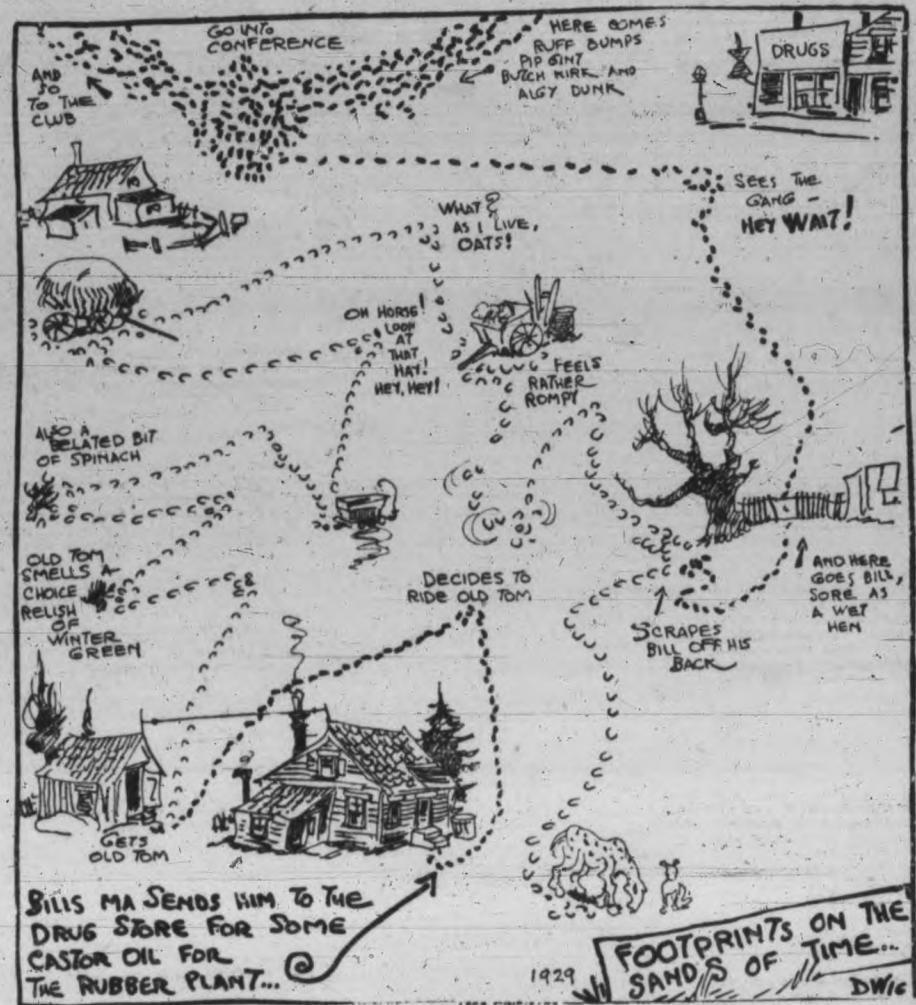

According to ancient lore this is a day most auspicious for interest in whatever is executive or constructive. Under this planetary government international problems of a new order are likely to vex the British Government. Persons whose birthday it is have the augury of a year in which they find success in whatever career they have chosen. There may be indication on certain subjects, notably among the young in choosing just the right one to marry. Children born on this day probably will be endowed with happy dispositions. The subjects of this sign are often witty and imaginative, entertaining companions and delightful friends. Many clever writers belong to Capricorn.

PLAYS ROLE OF WIFE

MRS. A. LEGGE-WILLIS

A hilariously funny farce comedy in one act, "A Little Fowl Play," has been selected by Mrs. Legge-Willis for presentation by the Co-optimists at the Crystal Garden on Friday.

The action of the play hinges on the moral problem confronting a young author and his wife when a chicken is delivered to their apartment by mistake. The parcel in which the chicken is enclosed is addressed to the occupant of a neighboring apartment who is believed to be away on holiday.

In the author's apartment are two apples and a little rice which they don't want to eat. Providence has so arranged it that an appetizing chicken comes into the apartment. What should they do? What they actually do leads to a funny set of complications which gives the Co-optimists ample opportunity to display their versatile histrionic powers.

The talented Mrs. A. Legge-Willis will play the role of the author's wife, Mr. Legge-Willis will himself play the part of the author. W. Taylor as Mr. Tolbooth and Miss Betty Jennings as Mary round out the cast.

AUSTRALIANS
DEBATE HERE

Compulsory Voting Will Be Subject of Argument Tomorrow

Interest being shown in the visit to Victoria of the "Australian Debating team," which will appear at the Sons of Canada Hall to-morrow, points to a large attendance when the gifted speakers from Sydney meet a Victoria team.

The interesting question of compulsory voting will be the subject of the argument. The Australians will take the affirmative on "Resolved that compulsory voting would be desirable for Canada." The Victoria team will take the negative.

The Sydney team consists of Norman G. L. Nelson and William S. Sheldon. The Victoria will be G. A. Hebdon and J. Gough. Judge P. E. Lampman, W. C. Moreby, K. G. and B. C. Nicholas will be the judges.

During the retirement of the judges, vocal solos will be rendered by Mrs. Robert McIntosh and Thomas Kellway, and possibly a short talk will be given by Mr. Goddall, manager of the Sydney team, on their experiences since leaving Australia last October.

Great Galaxy of Famous Stars Assembled For "The King of Kings"

Noted figures of the epic school of pictures found new opportunities in the Cecil B. De Mille Biblical film, "The King of Kings," now at the Royal Victoria Theatre all this week. The curiosity of picture fans is said to be keen over the new portrayals of these veterans, from Ernest Torrence, who made his big success as "Scout Bill Jackson," in "The Covered Wagon," to George Siegmann, who was the muley Governor of "The Birth of a Nation," and Robert Edeson, the former acrobatically contractor in "The Ten Commandments."

FRENCH TOWNS ARE CONSTRUCTED FOR COLUMBIA PICTURE

The town of Montreuil-sur-Mer has made a cult of Victor Hugo, and his well-known danceuse, Bessie and Bertha Kappelle, singers of popular melodies, and Florence Bonhannon, the English soprano in song selections, along with Jack Reed, the pianist singing M.C. and the Capitol Stage Band.

"SEVENTH HEAVEN"
NOW AT DOMINION

Janet Gaynor, star of Fox's "Street Angel," now at the Dominion Theatre, flew back from location on Catalina Island, where the exteriors of the picture were photographed, to keep an appointment with her hairdresser.

Of course, the fact that it was Janet's first ride in a plane had nothing at all to do with the last minute decision on the part of the little actress to accompany Director Frank Borzage and his staff, who had to be at the studio within two hours after the last-act had been made. Assuredly not.

Charles Farrell, who is co-starred with Miss Gaynor in the picture, not to be outdone, dug up an important business conference of his own and accompanied the party.

"Street Angel" is the first picture in which the paid have played since their epoch-making performance in "Seventh Heaven." It is a colorful story of Naples and a fitting successor to their earlier triumph.

Unexcelled acting, a sweeping story of love, intrigue and sacrifice, climatic production and perfect direction combine to make "The Woman Disputed," Norma Talmadge's newest screen vehicle, what it is.

The big picture—for it is big in every sense of the word—is now at the Capitol Theatre, and spectators are unanimous in proclaiming it the best in Miss Talmadge's career and a feature worthy of the United Artists organization.

Directed by Henry King and Sam Taylor, "The Woman Disputed," a continental story laid in the early days of the World War, presents a notable cast in support of the star.

The story opens in a gay Austrian town before the war. Two young men officers in the Austrian and Russian armies, form a real affection for a girl whose life up until the time she meets them is a sordid one. She has been a woman of the streets, but under her mask of sophistication there burns the light of reformation.

"She so charmed her hearers with her soprano voice of crystalline beauty that it is hoped she will return many times. Through groups of catholic range she sang with consummate artistry. Her singing of a negro spiritual was altogether delightful, and the soundness of her technique was apparent."
